Roosevelt Fails To Win Nomination On Three Ballots

Mention Many As Possibilities For Second Place

Garner, Ritchie, White Are Most Likely If Roosevelt Is First Choice

MIDDLE WEST FURNISHES LIST

Discuss Probabilities Of Each Candidate And Prospective Strength

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

CHICAGO, July 1.—The choice Democratic vice presidential plum dangled today above the heads of a score of party leaders.

Dame rumor smiled archly upon each of the standard-bearer's potential running mates. But the race actually was wide open, with the victor likely to be a party chieftain who has stood on the side-lines while others held the spotlight.

The reason for the uncertainty lay in the fact that whoever wins the presidential nomination will name his own running mate. This did not handicap dame rumor. She rolled out choice morsels of vice presidential gossip on the theory that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, is to be the standard-bearer.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Pa Newc finds Scout Camp John M. Phillips just as attractive as ever, with a group of Cub scouts today completing their one-week stay. They'll return home and older lads will take over the fresh-air huts and camp activities over the week end.

And to mention camps again reminds us that all of New Castle has an invitation from the New Castle Y. M. C. A. to drive to its Slippery Rock camp, Camp Fred L. Rentz, on Monday, the Fourth. There visitors will glimpse one of the finest camp layouts in the district.

Every downtown merchant and every home should display flags on Monday, but don't allow them to fly all Monday night.

Pa Newc notes that a good crop of hay is being harvested on a site that was used last year for a golf driving course.

Maps are being fished out of office desk pigeon holes today and plans are being laid for the "over the Fourth trip". It will be a long, long parade of autos on the road Saturday afternoon, Sunday and Monday.

Highway patrolmen are preparing for a long week-end vigil on the highways, to help lessen the holiday accidents. Better be careful about those bad passes and little stop signs because the patrolmen will get you if you don't watch out.

This is a big night for a group of 14 young ladies. They will receive their graduation pins and diplomas from the Jameson Memorial hospital school of nursing, bringing to a conclusion three years of training. The exercises will take place at the First Christian church.

Alumni dance tonight at the Cathedral. We'l be seein' yuh.

Will Rogers Gets Vote Of Oklahoma Delegates

(International News Service)

STADIUM, Chicago, July 1. — Will Rogers, the comedian who has been covering the Democratic national convention for the Hearst newspapers, received 22 votes on the second ballot for the Democratic presidential nomination.

They were cast by Gov. William H. "Alfalfa Bill' Murray of Oklahoma.

He controls and speaks for the delegates which voted for him on the first ballot.

On the second ballot, "Alfalfa" himself announced Oklahoma's vote.

"Oklahoma casts its 22 votes for its favorite son, Will Rogers," he said.

And then he laughed uproariously.

Rogers was in the hall.

"Well," he wisecracked, "if they elect me president the first thing I'll do is to go to sleep."

Harmony Discarded By State Delegates As Balloting Begins

Pennsylvania Democratic Delegates Badly Split Up In Chicago Convention

Wrangling Occurs As One Delegate Votes By Proxy Through Misunderstanding

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 1.—Harmony was tossed into the scrapheap by the Pennsylvania delegation today as it split wide open in casting it's ballot for the presidential nomination.

Pennsylvania voted:

First ballot—Roosevelt 44½, Smith 30, Ritchie—, Baker ½.

Second ballot— Roosevelt 44½, Smith 23½, Ritchie ? absent 4½.

Third ballot— Roosevelt 45½ Smith 21, Ritchie —, White 3, and Baker ½.

Gov. Frank[illegible] Roosevelt was more than a [illegible] of votes short of the "66 for Roosevelt on the first ballot" prediction voiced months ago by Joseph F. Guffey, Pittsburgh Democratic leader.

New York Governor Awaits Results Confidently At Albany

FAMILY WAITS AT SIDE THRU NIGHT

By LEO O'BRIEN
International News Service Special Correspondent.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 1.—Although 86 votes away from a two-thirds majority after three prolonged ballots, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt is still confident that he will be the Democratic nominee for president of the United States.

The governor received newspapermen early today. He had been sitting by his radio, listening to the convention proceedings for more than 12 hours.

"How do things look?" he was asked.

"Fine. Everything is fine."

"Are your followers in Chicago still confident?"

"Yes, they are."

The governor said he would sleep for about two hours and spend the rest of the day, until the convention reconvenes, in telephonic conversation with his Chicago lieutenants.

Roosevelt was amused by the perplexity of Senator Barkley, temporary chairman, in trying to follow the mathematics of the North Carolina delegation, which split its vote at the end into one-one hundredths.

Mrs. James Roosevelt, the governor's mother, his wife and two of their sons also remained up through the night. All of them, as well as the newspapermen who held vigil through the night, appeared to be more fagged than Roosevelt, whose white linen suit was not even mussed.

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, July 1.—Did the Democrats go wet? No.. They just lay right down and wallowed in it.

They left all their clothes on the bank and dived in without even a bathing suit. They are wetter than an "organdie" dress at a rainy day picnic.

The plank was made from cork wood nailed together with a sponge.

Both conventions, minds and time, have been so taken up with getting the country wet that they forgot to put in a plank to provide t' price of this much talked of drink. It's going to be lawful to get a drink but not possible.

Al Smith was by far the sensation of the convention and had by far the best speech.

I just want to know what all these old dry office holders that went wet over night are going to tell those preachers back home. They are going to say, "Father, I can't tell a lie. I saw the votes going and I had to go after 'em."

Yours,

Will Rogers.

Young Couple Shot To Death

(International News Service)

WESTPORT, Mass., July 1.—A young couple, parents of a three-year-old son, were shot to death in cold blood in their home here today after they arose from bed as a pane of glass in the front door was shattered.

Arthur Pelletier, 24, and his wife, Bertha, were the victims. Both were found dead in the living room of their home by a brother of the dead woman, Lucien Morreau.

Arthur Brown Manchester, 24, surrendered to police and confessed, police said, that he had shot and killed the couple. No motive was given.

Body Of Drowned Young Man Found

Legal Fight Is Promised Over Chambers' Will

Two Attacks Are Made On Disposition Of Property By East Brook Man

ESTATE FOR LIFE TO ELLA M. LUSK

At Her Death It Goes To Irene Marie Casillo, Who Was Chambers' Nurse

Battle lines are being drawn, it is said, for a legal fight over the will of the late Charles L. Chambers of East Brook, who died June 23rd, leaving an estate estimated at about $21,000. Already half a dozen attorneys are reported engaged, and two protests to the probating of the alleged will have been filed in a preliminary skirmish at the office of Register and Recorder Jeannette Hutton.

Mr. Chambers was a bachelor and one of the most highly respected citizens of Hickory township. In a will drawn on June 20 at the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he was a patient, his estate is disposed of as follows:

Disposes of Estate

First: to Mrs. Irene Marie Casillo, a registered nurse, and wife of Nick Casillo, a teacher in the New Castle high school, all the household goods in decedent's home in East [illegible]brook.

Second: the balance of the estate

Candidates' Kin Stay Thru Night

Wives And Daughters Remain At Convention All Night Long

SOME CANDIDATES ALSO 'STICK IT OUT'

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

STADIUM, CHICAGO, July 1.—Wives and daughters of presidential candidates proved their loyalty as the uproarious session of the Democratic national convention drifted into dreary speech-making early today.

The vast crowd of 25,000 which had roared its approval of nominating speeches and cheered demonstrations at mdinight had thinned out as the first faint streaks of dawn appeared. But the wives and daughters of candidates—and some of the candidates also—stuck it out, waiting for the important first ballot.

New Castle Alternates Consider Thumbing Back

Burgess Jack McGowan, the "Hitch Hiking Mayor of Prospect" may not be alone when he returns from the Chicago convention, according to Attorney Wilbur J. Baer who writes from the convention today. Ted Higgins, in whose car Baer and W. J. Eroe, Jr., went to the convention, has left for New Castle and Mr. Baer is wondering if the two alternates will put on a thumbing act coming back.

Between sessions Mr. Baer and Mr. Eroe visited Robert Wallace, son of Mrs. Robert A. Wallace of New Castle and Carl Hanna, a New Castle ex-service man who is a patient in the Hines hospital. The letter follows:

Mr. Fred Rentz,
President, News,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Mr. Rentz:—

Well we didn't get to decide much at the convention today, guess the committee is trying to find out what the word repeal means. We gather again at seven o'clock for a night session.

Called on Robert Wallace, son of Dr. Robert Wallace of New Castle at the Central Republic Bank and Trust Company. Mr. Wallace is assistant vice president of the same. Also visited the Chicago Board of Trade and saw how they operate in the wheat pit. Quite interesting, everything seems to be by fingers, the bidder holds up one, two or three fingers, each finger representing so many thousand bushels.

This afternoon after the convention was recessed until seven o'clock, we went out to the Edward Hines hospital and we paid a visit to your friend Carl Hanna. Carl has improved greatly the last few months, he tells us. They have a wonderful hospital sixteen hundred patients at the present time.

Ted Higgins left for home this afternoon so I don't know how Eroe and I will get home now unless we join forces with Mr. McGowan the mayor of Prospect who is here helping us look after things. The mayor thumbed his way out.

Very truly yours,
W. J. BAER.

MacNab Becomes New Postmaster

Crawford's Retirement Brings 32 Years' P. O. Service To Close

JANITOR'S SERVICE IS COMPLETED TODAY

The New Castle postmastership officially switched hands today as Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford brought to a close nearly 32 years of federal service, while Lake S. MacNab, recently approved by President Hoover and the Senate as his successor, took over his new work.

Postmaster Crawford, appointed by President Calvin Coolidge back in January, 1928, was ending almost a life-long term of service in the post office employ, since it was on September 1, 1910 that he first joined the postal organization here.

Telegram Brings News

A telegram from Arch Coleman, first assistant postmaster general at Washington, brought word to the new postmaster, Mr. MacNab, late last night, that he would automatically become postmaster in the morning.

The suddenness of the new postmaster's induction came, it was believed, as a result of recently-enacted legislation that called for the immediate retirement of all postal employees now of retirement age. Mr. Crawford had reached the prescribed period.

From the U. S. Treasury department came a telegram to the retiring postmaster, notifying him to

Former Champion At First Convention, Amazed At Political Organizations

BEST FITTED DOES NOT WIN

Candidate Can Lack Popular Appeal Yet Pole Largest Vote

By GENE TUNNEY
(Copyright, 1932, by International News Service.)

STADIUM, CHICAGO, July 1.—After four days' observation of this, my first convention, I have concluded that it is more to the organization behind a candidate than to the candidate himself that credit is due for convention victory.

So, I say that tribute is due "Big" Jim Farley for the thorough and complete job he did in backing Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt with about the best organization that any candidate for the presidential nomination has ever had.

Roosevelt Not Popular.

It has been quite evident from the beginning that Governor Roosevelt is not the most popular, and to my scrutiny, the most desired Democratic standard bearer. But the organization of Manager Farley is not interested in what the people desire at this point. Victory is what it is after; victory at any cost.

If this sort of convention is in accordance with Democratic principles of government, then there is something wrong with Democracy. The choice of this convention is no more the choice of the Democratic party, if the opinion of its leaders is to be considered, than black is white.

Matter of Pledges.

According to the leaders, it is all a matter of pledges. Pledges made months ago when no other candidates were in the field and before the crisis that now confronts the country was visualized or recognized. Though it is obvious that the country no longer backs the man who seems to have the majority of delegates, there is no way of changing those political pledges. The result does not seem "government of the people, by the people, and for the people," but rather, government by the politicians and for the office-seekers.

STADIUM, CHICAGO, July 1.—A continuous session of twelve bitter hours left the Democratic National Convention deadlocked today over the presidential nomination, with Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt stopped short of attaining the required two-thirds.

Three ballots were taken between 4 a. m. and 9 a. m. and on the last one the New York Governor was only 86 votes short.

On this ballot the vote was:
Franklin D. Roosevelt 682 79-100.
Alfred E. Smith 190 1-4.
John N. Garner 101 1-4.
Gov. George White 52 1-2.
Melvin A. Traylor, 40 1-4.

SPEEDY TRIP MADE TO ELLWOOD FIRE

Local Firemen Aid Ellwood Men In Quelling Fire

Pump Water Onto Circle Lumber Plant Blaze 25 Minutes After Getting Call

MEN OFF DUTY ANSWER CALL

New Castle firemen rendered valuable aid in extinguishing the fire at the Circle Lumber Company in Ellwood City, on Thursday afternoon, and succeeded in preventing the spread of the blaze after they arrived on the scene.

Chief Plant and his men from Ellwood City had the fire practically under control when the local department with the Pirsch pumper arrived on the scene, but they laid a line of hose and pumped water onto the blaze for an hour and a half, until the fire had been virtually extinguished.

Make Fast Trip

Chief H. Clare Stockman received the call for assistance at 1:30 o'clock. He called a number of men who were off duty and they responded immediately, five men in addition to Firemen Zeitler and Rohrer from Central Department making the run to Ellwood City with the Pirsch truck. Within 25 minutes after the call had been received, the local men had a line of hose connected up and pouring water onto the blaze.

In addition to the chief and Zeitler and Rohrer, who were on duty, those who responded were Lieut. Dart from No. 4; and Firemen Zeigler from No. 6; Malley from No. 1; and Norman and Perry McFarland from Central the latter of whom is on his vacation.

Assistant Fire Chief Jas. Thomas who was off duty came back onto the job until Chief Stockman returned.

Chief Plant of the Ellwood City department was grateful for the aid rendered by the local men.

LEGAL FIGHT IS PROMISED OVER CHAMBERS' WILL

is left to the Lawrence Savings & Trust Company, in trust for Mrs. Ella May Lusk, a sister, and wife of the late Harry Lusk, during the term of her natural life. The Lawrence Savings & Trust Company is to collect rents, invest money in mortgages and pay Mrs. Lusk the income for life.

Third: At Mrs. Lusk's death the estate is to go to Mrs. Irene Marie Casillo, absolutely. In explaining this action Mr. Chambers says in his will: "I have made the above provision to said Irene Marie Casillo on account of her extreme kindness and thoughtfulness to me during the time I was a patient in the Jameson Memorial hospital."

Attorney John Lockhart is made executor under the will. It is witnessed by Drs. Wayne W. Bissell and Ralph G. Campbell.

Protest Filed

When the will was offered for probate today, Kathryn Dufford filed a caveat or protest through her attorneys, Martin & Martin and Orville Brown. It is short. She says, "I, Kathryn Dufford, legatee, protest an alleged will dated about June 22 and request notice when it is offered for probate." Although Miss Dufford is not named in the Chambers will, it is implied that she believes there was another will.

Mrs. Ella May Lusk, by Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, filed a caveat in which she alleges that Mr. Chambers was not of sound and disposing mind at the time the will of June 20th was written. Undue influence is also alleged.

Mrs. Casillo has engaged Attorney Walter Braham to look after her interests. She intends to fight for the provisions of the will just as it was written. She admits nursing Mr. Chambers during his last illness, but maintains that at the time the will was written he was of sound mind and fully competent to dispose of his property as he saw fit. Denial is made that there was any undue influence. Mrs. Casillo says that she simply waited upon Mr. Chambers to the best of her ability.

Register and Recorder Jeannette Hutton has taken the papers in the case, but the will has not yet been probated. It is probable that there will be a hearing, either before her or the court, before official action is taken.

Roosevelt is the outstanding, ablest Democrat of the country. When asked why they think he will be nominated since he apparently is not the best fitted Democratic candidate, they say it is because he has the delegates tied up.

How Long?

I wonder how long the people of this country are going to put up with these conventions as a means of nominating candidates for the highest office of this Democracy. To the fresh-visioned, unprejudiced initiate, they are the bunk and no more representaitve of the will of the people than the venom of the cobra is the elixir of life. This method of naming prospects for public office is doomed. The people are becoming more interested in causes and results than they were in the past generation. They are now concerned with the pathology as well as the curd. Political deals and intrigues that result in naming the unfit are relics of the past. Mr. John Manofthestreet is waking; so, Mr. Politician, get your swan song ready.

Governor William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma sat in his place as a delegate while his praises were sounded. Governor George White drifted in about 3 a. m. Governors Albert C. Ritchie and Harry F. Byrd moved about on the fringes of the convention.

While Mrs. Dall hung onto every word of the speeches in praise of her father and appeared pained at the criticism, young "Jim" Roosevelt hustled about helping to strengthen the Roosevelt lines.

Mrs. Alfred E. Smith was present almost from start to finish. She showed little emotion, but frankly said she was happy over the demonstrations given her husband.

Rear Admiral Richard A. Byrd, a member of the Virginia delegation, was in the thick of the demonstration for his brother.

Many other Democratic notables who were merely spectators remained until the end. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, dignified as usual, peered at the weird parades as late as 2 a. m.

lot when Charles D. McAvoy, Montgomery, chairman of the delegation, asked for a pool of the Keystone group. Visibly annoyed, Senator Thomas J. Walsh asked what the chances were for the delegation to "get together."

McAvoy declared that several groups were adamant in their demand for the poll. Leaders of these groups were John W. Stader, Latrobe; Malcolm M. Donald, Pittsburgh, and Thomas Logue, Philadelphia. All oppose the New York executive's candidacy.

Harmony suffered another blow when, over the objections of McAvoy, Walsh ruled that only the alternate whose name appeared opposite to that of a delegate could vote for that delegate.

Delegates milled about the Pennsylvania standard as the pool was taken by the clerk. Efforts of McAvoy to name alternates for absent delegates was vigorously contested by a number of anti-Roosevelt delegates.

Argument Occurs

After the pool was completed, Stader charged that a vote for Roosevelt in the twenty-fifth district had been cast without authority. The delegate is George B. Sprowls, of Claysville, and the alternate is J. R. Irwin Knox, of Washington. Sprowls was reported absent when his name was called.

When the name of Knox was called, a voice shouted a vote for Roosevelt.

Stader roared out:

"There was neither a delegate or an alternate to vote in this district. When the name of Knox was called some one named Reed from Waynesburg voted in his place. He is not qualified."

"Can that be true?" Walsh queried. "Call both names again."

Both names were called and McAvoy reported:

"A gentleman who though he had a proxy voted under a misapprehension."

Line Is Holding

The failure of the Roosevelt forces, led by Guffey, to pick up any more strength for Roosevelt on the first two ballots was something of a surprise.

The ability of the anti-Roosevelt group to hold its line, though showing a loss for Smith, intensified their energy. It was predicted that as the balloting wore on, if there was not a choice within a short time, the Ritchie cause might take some votes from Roosevelt as well as Smith.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, and Gov. George White, of Ohio, were running almost a dead heat in the rumor race. Since all there are still presidential possibilities there was a chance for each of them to head the ticket while taking some one else for second place.

One rumor had substance. It was that Roosevelt, if nominated, would choose Garner, Ritchie or White to join him on the ticket. All three have large followings in the party councils and among the rank and file of democracy. Each would make an ideal running mate, though for different reasons. Garner would give a Roosevelt ticket national scope; Ritchie would give it greater strength in the great industrial centers; White would help it in the pivotal Buckeye state and through the middle west.

Many other names were mentioned in the rumors. There were a host of possibilities from Ohio, that historic state of the presidents, including Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war; James M. Cox, presidential nominee in 1920 and Senator Robert J. Bulkley, who helped write the repeal prohibition plank. Some party leaders, incidentally, were insisting on an Ohio man for vice president, regardless of the identity of the standard-bearer.

The west offered the names of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, who again won favor by his service as permanent chairman, Senator Clarence K. Dill, of Washington, an early Roosevelt leader, Governor George H. Dern of Utah, and William Gibbs McAdoo, of California, who lost the presidential nomination 1924 at historic Madison Square Garden.

The middle west furnished another list. They included Melvin C. Traylor, the Chicago banker, Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, and Governor Harry H. Woodring of Kansas. The border states spoke of Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, and Senator Cordell Hull of Tenn., one of the party's greatest economic authorities.

The south presented Governor Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi. From New England came talk of Governor Joseph B. Ely of Mass.

ALL NIGHT SESSION WITHOUT RESULT OF NOMINATION

worked out during the day—remains to be determined.

Gov. Roosevelt was able to pick up only 16 votes on the second and third ballots over his first ballot strength of 666 1-4, which gives some indication of how closely the favorite sons and the potentialities clung to their positions and their delegates.

The focal point of the Roosevelt attack during the interim will be the Texas and California delegations, which voted 90 votes steadily for Speaker Jack Garner. The Texas picked up 11 votes from Oklahoma on the third ballot to swell his total to 101.

All Night Session.

The leaders on both sides left the stadium at 9:10 o'clock this morning after the all-night session expressing confidence the "Allies" that they had the New York governor "stopped" and the Roosevelt leaders that the night session would see him nominated.

"The balloting suited me fine," said "Jim" Reed.

"Governor Roosevelt will be nominated at tonight's session," asserted Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi one of the Roosevelt chiefs of strategy.

Harrison's own Mississippi delegation of 20 was barely restrained from leaving Roosevelt on the third ballot.

Mrs. Bessie T. Ross

Mrs. Bessie T. Ross, widow of William A. Ross, Enon Valley died Thursday at 8:10 p. m. in the family home, after an illness of two weeks from erysipelas.

Mrs. Ross was born in St. Clairsville, O., October 29, 1876 the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Barker and thirty five years ago she was married to William A. Ross, who preceded her in death by less than a week, his funeral service having been held Wednesday afternoon.

She was a member of the Presbyterian church of East Liverpool, Ohio and the Arwilda Lodge 556 of the Rachel Rebekahs.

She is survived by one son, William Addison; four sisters, Mrs. Margaret Inboden, Enon Valley, Mrs. Della Penick, Beaver Falls, Mrs. Nora Bailey and Mrs. Sara Huffman, East Liverpool, Ohio, and two brothers: Harvey Barker of East Liverpool and John Barker of Big Prairie, Ohio.

Funeral services will be held on Monday at 2 p. m. E. S. T. from the home, with Rev. H. Dean officiating. Interment will be made in Riverview cemetery, East Liverpool.

MacNAB BECOMES NEW POSTMASTER

immediately relinquish to Mr. MacNab the custodianship of the building. The post office building itself is under the treasury department's jurisdiction.

Davies Retires

With Mr. Crawford's retirement comes the retirement of another postal employee here, George Davies, veteran caretaker of the building. Mr. Davies' 17-years' service culminates under the same provisions that brought Mr. Crawford's service to a close.

Retiring Postmaster Crawford first entered the department's service here as assistant postmaster in 1900, under the regime of Postmaster John B. Brown. He continuously served in that capacity under Postmasters Brown, John A. McKee, David A. Moore, Harry N. Good and up until the death of Judson C. Norris, in 1928, when he became acting postmaster of the office for a year and a half.

Crawford was then recommended by former Congressman Thomas W. Phillips for postmaster and on January 10, 1928, was officially commissioned for the post by President Coolidge. He was reappointed later and served from that time up until last night as postmaster here.

"I have no plans for the present," Mr. Crawford answered when asked what his future plans are. We will vacation at his East Wallace avenue home for the time being.

Draft Reports Today

Both the retiring and new postmasters were at the post office today aiding Assistant Postmaster J. G. Leslie and his clerical force in drafting final reports for the office's past fiscal year. The new year commences today.

Mr. MacNab was formerly in charge of the former Butler road plant of the Fisher Bros. company, operated for the manufacture of merchandise. He has been a businessman here for years.

Recommended to the office by Congressman J. Howard Swick, Mr. MacNab was officially appointed later by President Hoover and later confirmed by the Senate. He resides on Wallace avenue.

"Tin Boxes" Galore In Germany-But Empty

(International News Service)

BERLIN—How times have changed! Instead of proverbial money lying in Berlin streets when prosperity reigned empty strong boxes are now lying around for anybody to take home who still has riches.

Twelve big-sized boxes have been found in Berlin streets recently where their unknown owners had dumped them as superfluous equipment. Police removed them from the streets and are eager to give them away for nothing. Repeated offers failed to draw any prospective takers. No junk dealer will even cart them.

To man's bold spirit of adventure we also owe the discovery that okra can be used as food.

All praise to the bonus marchers. Nobody else could think up a way to hasten the adjournment of Congress.

Awaiting Her Boy's Nomination

Calmly confident that her son will be chosen as candidate for the highest honor the nation can bestow, Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, mother of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, is shown knitting in her home at Hyde Park, N. Y., as she listens to the progress of the Democratic convention over the radio. With Mrs. Roosevelt is the Governor's youngest son, John A. Roosevelt.

ISABELLA-SACCO WEDDING THURSDAY

Two prominent Italian families were united Thursday when Miss Julia Isabella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Isabella of 115 Croton avenue became the bride of Anthony Sacco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sacco of 702 Neal street, in St. Vitus church before a large assemblage of relatives and friends. The Rev. Fr. Donatelli assisted by four students from St. Fidelis Seminary read the service at 10 o'clock.

The bride, attired in an exquisite gown of ivory satin made Empire style with long train and a veil of tulle caught with orange blossoms, carried an arm bouquet of calla lillies. She approached the altar, which was beautifully embanked with palms, Cybotium ferns and tall standards of lillies, on the arm of her father who gave her away. Appropriate musical selections were rendered by Miss Laskey, church organist, throughout the ceremony.

Miss Carmella De Giglio, as maid of honor wore a Patou model gown of chiffon in pastel shade of yellow and carried Tailsman roses. Other attendants were Miss Mary Isabella, sister of the bride in a frock of peach lace and mousseline de soie over taffeta, and brides maids, the Misses Elizabeth Tesone, Mary Isabella, Esther Adamo, Mary Posirach, Lena Adamo and Martha Posirach wore gowns of lavender organdie made alike with full skirts and fitted waists. Each carried white roses with bows of matching ribbon.

Frank C. Summers served as best man and those acting as ushers were Messrs Philip Perrotta, James Mancini, Dr. Anthony Masters, Rocco Tomolelleo, Sam Tomasello and Patsy Juliano.

Miss Anna Lastoria, as guide wore orchid net over satin and Master Ralph Latrenta was ring bearer. Flower girls in dainty frocks of white organdie were Gloria Mancini, Rose Isabella, Anita Sacco, Gene Tomelelleo, Laura Isabella and Helen Bernabei.

Mrs. Isabella, mother of the bride appeared in a gown of blue crepe with white accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of roses.

As the bridal party left the church for The Castleton where dinner was served to thirty five guests, they were greeted by the pyrotechnical salute that was most impressive. Dinner appointments were carried out in orchid.

In the evening, a reception and dance was held in the hotel ballroom which was largely attended. Music for this event was furnished by Charles Perrotta, Sylvester Isabella, Dante De Thomas, Larry Vin, Clyde Reed, John Casella, Andy Measure, Clyde Green and John Hill. The couple was presented with a collection of many beautiful and serviceable gifts at this time.

After a wedding trip to Saguenay River, Canada, Mr. Sacco and his bride will reside at 1115 Croton avenue. Both are associated with the Shenango Pottery here.

Out of town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Marchese of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Latrenta of Baltimore, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Sabin Exposito of Youngstown, O., Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Paulino of Atlanta, Ga., and Lucy DeGregory and Jane Clements of Ypsilanti, Mich.

Moonlight 500 Club

The Moonlight 500 Club members enjoyed a meeting with Mrs. I. A. Taylor on Adams street Thursday evening, when she entertained informally with cards. Mrs. Francis H. Johnston and Mrs. Taylor captured the prizes for honors, and at conclusion of play, a delicious lunch was served. The hostess was assisted with the menu by her daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Emery.

In two weeks, Mrs. Johnston on Allen street will have club.

LILLIAN ANDREWS ENTERTAINS FOR GUESTS

Honoring her house guest, Miss Florence Jenkins of Glenshaw, who will leave in August for South America, to take up work under the Presbyterian Mission Board, and Miss Jean Hindman of West Sunbury, Miss Lillian Andrews, Walnut street, entertained a group of young ladies in her home Thursday, most of them being students at Indiana State College at the time Miss Jenkins attended.

A luncheon at small tables, artfully decorated with roses and carrying out of color schemes of pink and green, was served, and at conclusion of a delicious menu, the small tables were again put to use for cards, which were the divertisement of the afternoon. Lovely prizes for high score at bridge were won by Mrs. Earl Ruby and Mrs William Lewis.

LOTUS KENSINGTON DINNER GUESTS

Members of the Lotus Kensington were delightfully entertained on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ella Gibson on Euclid avenue, when they gathered for a tureen dinner. A delicious menu was served at noon at tables attractively arranged on the front veranda. Bouquets of flowers were used as decorations throughout.

Concluding dinner, the guests strolled into the gardens, and spent the remaining social hours informally. Before departing, the hostess served a light lunch.

COLLEGE CLUB SPECIAL MEETING

Announcement is made of a special called meeting for the College members to take place on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Paris Shoaff, 1405 Highland avenue, at 2 o'clock.

Harley-Glassel Wedding

A pretty wedding took place Thursday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Harley, Hamilton street, when their daughter, Margaret, became the bride of Gale Glassel, Bessemer.

The ceremony was performed at 5 p. m. with Rev. Charles Warren Johnston, pastor of the Central Christian church officiating. The bride was lovely in a gown of baby blue crepe, made with long skirt and fitted bodice of cream lace. Her arm bouquet was of pale pink roses and white button daisies.

Miss Toots McFarland, East Reynolds street, was maid of honor and wore a white flowered organdie with ankle length skirt and fitted bodice, with little puff sleeves and carried an arm bouquet of red roses and white button daisies.

Jack Parkett served as best man.

Supplementing the ceremony a wedding dinner was served in the bride's home, with covers laid for fifteen. Mr. and Mrs. Glassel will reside with the bride's parents for the present.

O. N. 500 Club

The O. N. 500 Club members gathered at the home of Leona Crane on Harrison street Thursday evening, and enjoyed a social time. Cards occupied the hours, with Dorothy Fletcher and Betty Uber being awarded the prizes for honors.

During a brief business session, plans were made for the members to go to Rock Springs tonight. Also, Viola Dufford was elected press reporter at this time. Other items of interest were discussed, and in bringing the evening to a close, the hostess' mother assisted by Mrs. Fletcher, served a dainty repast.

Honored At Dinner

Honoring Mrs. Lydia Diebart who is visiting from Baltimore, Md., the Misses Clara Neugebauer and Edna Waddington entertained jointly at the home of the former on North Mercer street Thursday evening at a very beautifully appointed dinner party. A delicious menu was served at the selected hour by the hostess, the appointments being carried out suggestive of the season. Informal pastimes followed.

Those who participated were Mrs. Lillian Patton, Mrs. Jean Miliken, Margaret Pyle, the guest of honor and the hostesses.

Picnic At Beach

Miss Mary Hainer and Miss Christine Butler acted as chaperons on Wednesday when the embroidery circle of the Neighborhood House had its annual picnic to close the activities of the circle for the summer months at Castle Beach.

The girls were taken to the beach by George Morrow, Book and Leyde and David Ritchie and enjoyed a period of swimming before the serving of a splendid dinner at noon. The afternoon hours were spent in swimming and various games.

LOCALLY KNOWN GIRL WEDS HERE THURSDAY

Miss Myrtle E. Gill, daughter of Mrs. William Gill of 5515 Southern boulevard, Youngstown, O., and Bert H. Dudley of Delison avenue, the same city, were married Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in the First Baptist church with the Rev. George Landis, pastor, officiating with the ring service.

The bride, who is well known in this vicinity was lovely in a beige georgette ensemble with accessories to match and wore a shoulder corsage of roses and delphinium. Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Reebel of Fairmont avenue, this city, the latter a sister of the bride, were the attendants. She wore a frock of flowered chiffon with matching accessories and a shoulder bouquet of the same.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the Reebel residence with covers being laid for eight. Pastel tones prevailed in the appointments throughout.

The bride has been a teacher at the Bancroft school in Youngstown, and the groom is affiliated with the Shutrump Construction Company there as auditor.

They left later in the day for an extended motor trip through Pennsylvania, New York and other points of interest, and upon their return after August 1 will reside at 5515 Southern boulevard, Youngstown.

B. B. B. CLUB PLANS SPECIAL OUTING

Miss Margaret Elleby of North Walnut street proved a pleasing hostess Thursday evening to members of the B. B. B. club in her home. Card tables were arranged, and a contest in bridge was the feature. Prizes for this event were won by Mrs. Earl Reeves, Mrs. George Brodbeck, Mrs. Cecil Johns and Mrs. Frank Robinson, the latter two being special guests of the evening.

A delicious collation was served at a late hour by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Fred Elleby and Mrs. Robinson, the small tables being prettily appointed in summer tones.

Plans were made for a picnic dinner to be held at Cottage Grove, with Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Richards as hosts, on Monday, July 4th, with the husbands being special guests.

The next regular meeting will take place on Wednesday, July 20 with Mrs. Earl Reeves on Garfield avenue as hostess.

Warnock Reunion

The sixth annual reunion of the Warnock family was held Thursday afternoon and evening at the Geo. T. Weingartner home on the Butler road. Dinner was served on the lawn at 6 o'clock to sixty-four guests.

It was with regret Senator George T. Weingartner and the Hon. Bart Richards who were attending sessions in Harrisburg, could not participate.

A business meeting was held and election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: president, Mr. Weingartner; vice president, Fred Warnock, of Youngstown, O., secretary, Laura Warnock; treasurer, D. B. Warnock.

The reunion in 1933 will be held at the same place on the last Wednesday in June.

CLASS HAS PICNIC AT "BUTTERNUT" CAMP

The Willing Workers' class of the First Congregational church, with some of the husbands as special guests, motored to the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford James, "Butternut Camp" on the Mt. Jackson road, Thursday evening, for a picnic supper, which was served at 6:30, with Mrs. Harry Jones, Mrs. Dave Matthews, Mrs. Reed Price and Mrs. John Kaufmann on the committee.

After an elaborate menu had been served under the trees, music and games were enjoyed, with Mrs. Charles Henry and Mrs. Ben Fowler winning the prizes.

The July meeting will be in the form of a picnic at the camp of Mrs. John McElroy, near Harlansburg, with Mrs. Albert Jones, Mrs. Daniel Hughes, Mrs. Anne Williams, Mrs. William Pugh and Miss Rachel Samuels as hostesses.

Classes Frolic

The Loyal Ladies and the King's Daughters classes of the Calvary Presbyterian church had an outing Thursday at Castle Beach and had the husbands as special guests.

Supper was served at 6.30 and a program of swimming and races occupied the after hours.

Mrs. Pearl Pitzer on the women's foot race and the shoe race: Rev. R. J. Fredericks won the men's foot race and the ball throwing contest: Mrs. Beatrice Houk won the ball throwing for women; Mrs. Walter Waddington and Theodore Watson won the cracker eating contest: Walter Waddington won the jumping contest and the ball passing was won by Rev. R. J. Fredericks' team.

Reunited Ladies League.

The Reunited Ladies League met Thursday evening with Mrs. Belle Clark on Neshannock avenue. The usual business routine was carried out followed by a social time spent informally. At a suitable hour the hostess, assisted by her daughters Betty Lee and Mrs. Elsie Phillips, served a dainty collation.

Bingo was the main diversion, Mrs. Rebecca Strong, Mrs. Anne Martin and Mrs. Phillips winning the prizes.

In two weeks Mrs. Anna Nolte of Cumberland avenue will be hostess.

Jolly Twelve Club.

Mrs. Charles Riney of Superior street was hostess last evening to the Jolly Twelve club members in her home. Business items were given attention and a social time followed. Cards and bingo were the diversions, prizes going to the winners.

Tempting refreshments were later served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Robert Ray, Mrs. Paul Young and Miss Sylvia Black.

In two weeks the club will meet again, the place to be announced.

Robinson Reunion

The reunion of the Robinson families will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson on the Wilmington road July 4th.

TREASURE FIND

HUNTING for buried or sunken treasure has thrilled mankind since the first treasures. It is one of the high adventures, and dreams of success have ranked, in song and story, with dreams of conquest and superlative achievement. But of all man's dreams and fancies, excepting that of traveling to the stars, this dream of finding long lost treasure has been the last to come true.

It did come true the other day to the crew of a little Italian salvage vessel anchored off the French coast. And the treasure was not a chest of pieces of eight and doubloons, but $5,000,000 in gold and silver.

This dream was no more fantastic than it was difficult of materialization. For nearly a year the treasure hunters scoured the ocean bottom before finding the liner Egypt which sank in 400 feet of water in 1922 and in whose bullion room was known to be $5,000,000 in gold and silver. Fogs and high seas permitted salvage work only a few months of the year. Even with special equipment for deepsea diving the work on the ocean floor was dangerous and tedious. And disaster followed disaster for the searchers. In the winter of 1930-1931 the original salvage ship was blown up with a loss of 14 men while attempting to salvage a sunken munitions ship during the months when work on the Egypt had to be suspended. A second ship capsized with the loss of one man. But patience and persistence finally conquered the great elemental forces.

Few treasure hunts have ended thus happily. Disaster has haunted most of the historic searchers for lost treasure, and success has crowned few of them. But this will be forgotten by those who are certain to be sent treasure hunting by the success of the Artiglio II.

FROM PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

George H. Houston of Philadelphia, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, told the convention of the Advertising Federation of America the other day that the major portion of relief must come from the renewed activity of private enterprise.

"If the American business man will look forward with courage to the future of his own enterprise and anticipate to only a reasonable degree his future needs for equipment—not to expand the volume of his activities, but solely to modernize his facilities for carrying on his normal volume of business and for improving the quality of his product and the economy of his operation—he would go far toward restoring our economic balance."

There's good talk. Business was foolish and made trouble for itself. Let business now begin to be wise.

THE ADULT IS NOT SO STUPID

That adults acquire knowledge less easily than children is nonsense. So thinks Mr. William R. Barnes, a well-known publisher of text-books; and who shall say that he is not right? Certainly it is logical enough to assume that the mind matures with age and gains greater powers of concentration.

The contrary theory probably arises from the comparative ease with which children learn to speak any language they constantly hear. Grammar and syntax and all the difficulties with which those who go to the text-books wrestle are thus mastered more or less unconsciously. The classic example of linguistic faculty in old age is that of Cato, of course, who learned Greek at eighty. But there are probably others less famous who paralleled this achievement.

AMATEURS AND TEMPTATION

Of the 147 golfers who started in the open golf championship relatively few are amateurs and none of that number was conceded much of a chance to win the title. This is surprising since the men who play golf for the love of the sport far outnumber those who make a living out of it.

There are now three types of players who enter open-golf tournaments, the simon-pure amateurs, the outright professionals and a cross between the two who is best described as gentlemen professionals, or business-men golfers, who while dominated by their love of the game are not averse to taking the thousands of dollars that the championship is worth.

No doubt the depression is largely responsible for these desertions from the amateur ranks. While their incomes were adequate, or nearly so, for their needs, few amateurs of championship calibre were tempted by the rich rewards offered those who would exploit their prowess on the links. Things are different now.

Friends of amateur golf deeply lament this, and fear that it will take another decade of prosperity to undo the harm which has been done since 1929. The scars left by professionalism upon the amateur body are not easily removed, to which college football can attest.

LIBEL BY RADIO

On the night before the Republican primary in Nebraska Richard F. Wood made a speech from the radio station at Lincoln attacking Attorney-General Sorensen, who was a candidate for re-election. Next day the broadcasting station sent out a statement advising the listeners that it was not in sympathy with and did not sanction the criticism made by Wood. This announcement was made four times in the course of the day.

A suit was brought for $100,000 damages by Corensen against Wood and the broadcasting company. Judgment was entered on the verdict against Wood for $1 but the radio station was absolved. On appeal the Supreme Court of Nebraska reversed that finding and held that the radio company must answer for transmitting libel. The company claimed immunity on the ground that the Radio Act of 1927 provides that when equal opportunity is granted legally qualified candidates for public office "the licensee shall have no power of censorship over the material broadcast under the provisions of this paragraph."

The court said that Congress had not intended by this language to authorize or sanction the publication of libel.

The prohibition of censorship merely prevents the licensee from censoring the words as to their political and partisan trend, but does not give immunity from the consequences of the publication of a libel. The court opinion said that the fundamental principles of law involved in publication by a newspaper and by a radio station are alike and special favors should not be granted against one who was a victim of a libelous publication through a broadcasting station.—The New York Sun.

And what's more, I don't care. Why should I know everything? Or half of everything? Or even one-millionth of all that is to be known? . . . Tell me that, explain that to me in words of one syllable. . . . If I want to know something, I can look it up, I can ask somebody who knows, I can find out somewhere. Why should any of us load his poor brains with superfluous facts? Why should we be bullied or dared into doing the useless? Into knowing the unnecessary? Why should we bite off more than we can chew?

You don't know the answer. That's fine. Please let me shake you by the hand. I'm proud to meet a man who dares to confess, in this knowing, opinionated, cock-sure generation, that he doesn't know something. . . . I feel better already, my grouch is passing, I know we'll get along. It's wonderful to know a man who isn't well informed. . . . Let's be friends in abysmal ignorance.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

LITTLE LADY RICHES

came riding by,
All dressed up in jodhpurs and a scarf pin in her tie;
She cantered and she galloped up and down the bridle way,
And passed a group of children in the city park at play.
She saw them at a sand pile, and she saw them on a swing, Without a groom to guard them as they jumped from ring to ring.

Little Lady Riches had a horse to ride about.
But grooms are sullen company,
they seldom laugh or shout.
And every time she passed them in the city park at play
She gazed upon the children till she'd ridden far away.
And men, like me, who watched her from the benches where we sat,
Were certain that she wanted just one day as blithe as that.

The groom was under orders, so he galloped her along.
Pretending that her fancy for such pleasures must be wrong.
Of course, the man knew better, but a groom to earn his pay Must always do precisely as his wealthy patrons say.
And Little Lady Riches had to canter mile on mile,
When it was plain she wanted to make mud pies for awhile.

She thought it must be lovely to be free to romp and play
And to have no groom to guard her every minute of the day.
She was wearing pretty jodhpurs,
but beneath her riding dress
Was the self-same urge to frolic which all little ones possess.
As she gazed upon thosec hildren we could almost hear her sigh—
But the groom was under orders and he made her gallop by.

A Pittsburgh court has ruled that just because a person is able to pay, it does not follow that charges of doctors or dentists can be made without regard to the amount of service rendered. This decision came on account of a dentist suing an estate for $15,000 for services rendered the owner of it before his death. The court awarded the sum of $1,035. Wow!

No public official in the United States has to pay any tax on the salary he draws from a city, county, state or nation. This is not right when people in private life who make far less have to pay an income tax on what they earn. A billion or so could be had in revenue if the people of this country insisted on taxing public officials just the same as the incomes of private citizens are taxed.

NEGLECTED

The trouble with the world is that some trades, which were employing millions a few years ago, are now neglected.

There is the trade of digging up sewers. No longer are our streets always torn up to look for sewers. There was a time when the city employed thousands of sewer-diggers. They would chop up the streets until they found a sewer. Then they would remove the sewer and chop up another street, and put the sewer over there. Maybe there was another street with good paving, and no sewers under it. Sewers would be ordered and the street dug up along one side, and the sewer installed there. After it was under a week another crew would come along, dig it up and change it to the other side of the street. That is the trouble today with motorists, on account of no streets being dug up they don't have to worry about ditches and so they speed.

Small Business Encouraged By Statement From Dawes

Americans Find Logic In Belief That Financier Touches Vital Point In Seeing Gains Through Improvement At Bottom

Gen. Charles G. Dawes has impressed on the country his belief that better conditions, which he finds already under way, will be built up from the bottom and not in any other way. His theory of development from small units is hailed as distinctly American doctrine, and acceptance of his standing as a financier is such that his announcement that the turning point has been reached is declared to offer grounds for confidence.

"The Dawes statement," according to the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION, "is important because he has been in position for the last several months to know intimately what is going on throughout the entire financial and business structure of the country. And further, because General Dawes has established a reputation for talking to the point. He has not been engaged in making many and vain predictions; he has not been whistling for the purpose of keeping up his own courage or that of other people; he has never exhibited an inclination to fool the public. He has made this statement in the full belief that it will be verified by conditions, and while he may of course be mistaken results are likely to justify his belief."

"Blunt and outspoken," General Dawes," in the opinion of the BOISE IDAHO STATESMAN, "is not the type of man who deals in buncombe about business recovery and for this reason, coupled with the fact that he is one of the shrewdest financiers in the country today, his optimistic statement concerning conditions and prospects for the future should prove heartening to millions of Americans. * * * The following words of General Dawes are worth repeating: 'The recovery in the depression will start from the bottom up, not from the top down. For the real evidences of reaction we must look to the mass attitudes of our people and not to the shifting opinions of certain sections of it. For instance, I would attribute much more importance to the increase of electric power consumption in the country during the last two weeks than to stock or bond quotations. It is the average man's business which is the main factor in the situation. His business in the aggregate is enormous.'"

"This thing of a turning point," remarks the PORT HURON TIMES HERALD, "may not be nearly as sharply as we may have wished. But Gen. Dawes' opinion on the matter will carry more weight than that of most other men, even more than some who may be in better position to judge business and financial conditions throughout the country. Small business is going to feel it first, says General Dawes. And that sounds logical. The foundations must be good if the superstructure is to be solid. It has long been recognized that small business, the small farmer, the small group like the American family, make up the backbone of the country and its social structure. Which brings small business very much to the fore. And a little faith might bring a quicker response to the situation which General Dawes envisions."

"The common man's prosperity is community prosperity," declares the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL. "The prosperity of the worker and small business is the community's prosperity. The prosperity out on farms, orchards, gardens and stock ranches is a state's prosperity. * * * And the Dawes opinion is worth other considerations. It is a great American's recognition of the turn toward better days. Whose opinion is entitled to greater credence? Whose opinion could be more welcome?" The CHARLESTON (W. VA.) DAILY MAIL comments: "The fact that fear appears to be subsiding and hope and confidence seem to be returning is an encouraging sign. There probably is no single, outstanding recent development that could be pointed to as the cause for this more cheerful feeling. The most striking happening in this line was the ability of America to withstand the French gold withdrawals without damage to the dollar. Scattered here and there, however, in recent weeks have been a large number of minor developments in the way of orders and trade pickups in various lines that, together, are not without significance as straws."

"Decentralization is the keynote of government reform," thinks the HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH, with the conclusion that "it may be also a powerful factor in the return of prosperity and the cure of unemployment." That paper says of the

MAKING HEADWAY

Throughout your life haven't you tried to cover too much territory in an effort to attain success?

Isn't it true that you have not centered all your time and attention along one line but tried to follow many lines?

It may be that you have wasted many years in a vain endeavor to make a success in a big way or thru some important undertaking.

Had you been content to specialize on something within your ability you might have made considerably more progress.

But you have worked on the theory that success in a small way wasn't worth striving for and so you tried to step out of your class.

Perhaps you have the idea that what has meant renown for some men is as open to you, a thought comes because you have a certain degree of ability along the same line.

But you may have reached a point where the whole thing is too big for you while you might have made a success if you had not attempted too much.

It is well to realize your own limitations.

You need not have an inferiority complex to sense a limit.

Gift Levy Curbs Evasions By Taxing All Transfers U. S. Commissioner Believes

By DAVID BURNET
United States Commissioner Of Internal Revenue

The gift tax is new in that no such tax existed at the date of the enactment of the revenue act of 1932, but it has a historical precedent in the short-lived provisions of the revenue act of 1924 imposing a tax upon gifts, but differs in that it has specific provisions covering questions the answers to which were uncertain under the prior law.

The gift tax is not a tax upon property, but subjects to tax transfers of property without consideration which in common law are termed gifts but include also sales and exchanges for less than an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth.

A gift may consist of any species of property, whether tangible or intangible, or any interest therein either legal or equitable. The tax is imposed where the transfer is in trust or otherwise and where the gift is made either directly or indirectly.

Thus, for example, a taxable transfer may be effected by the declaration of a trust, the foregoing of a debt, the assignment of the benefits of a contract of insurance or the naming of a beneficiary thereof, or the creation of a joint bank account and the deposit of funds therein which are withdrawn by another.

A sale or exchange for a consideration reducible to a money value which is less than an adequate and full consideration amounts to a gift within the meaning of the statute to the extent that the value of the property at the time of the transfer exceeds the consideration received.

In the case of the death of a donor it will be necessary to check all his gift tax returns. The broad and general language of the gift tax suggests many annoying questions, such as the question of distinguishing between a gift and a bad bargain by vendor, even though it be conceded that a sale or exchange in the ordinary course of business, where the tranaction is free from any donative intent, does not involve a gift notwithstanding that the consideration received is inadequate.

It is confidently believed that the great majority of these annoying questions can be settled by a reasonable administration of the law.

COOLIDGE AND HOOVER ARE ACCORDED PRAISE

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—"Uncle Sam's last two chauffeurs have both shown not only the capacity to handle the machinery, in all kinds of weather, but also to make the best of road conditions of every kind as they are encountered along the way.

Thus does Congressman John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, formerly floor leader of the House, pointing out that "some men quail before adversity while others can not stand prosperity," commend the administrative abilities of Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover.

"Our country was indeed fortunate in having at the high tide of prosperity during the last administration a man like President Coolidge who, by his wise foresight, like Joseph of old, took advantage of the seven fat years to prepare us in some measure, so far as public revenues are concerned, for whatever part of seven lean years we may be compelled to endure. What a blessing this accumulation in the Treasury has turned out to be in this time of mounting deficit," Col. Tilson added after recalling the criticism heaped on Coolidge for applying Treasury surpluses to the reduction of the public debt in the face of public clamor for more extensive public expenditures. He continues:

"Equally fortunate are we now in the stress and strain of the depression storm whose path is a wide girdle around the entire globe in having at the helm a pilot acquainted with world conditions, ready to avail himself of every known aid to navigation and above all one who through foul weather and fair, through evil as well as good report, stands courageously at his post leaving nothing undone that mortal man might do to bring the ship safely to port."

As each problem has arisen, presenting a crisis, President Hoover, says Col. Tilson "has come forward with something concrete and definite in the way of a program to meet it" while unfriendly critics who have "minimized his successes and magnified each failure" have not "even with the tremendous advantage of hindsight over foresight, even to this good hour suggested what President Hoover has done that he should not have done or what he has left undone that he should have done."

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., July 1.—Elliott Sellar, Brookline, Mass., a graduate of Westminster College on June 6 with the degree of bachelor of science, has been selected as a laboratory assistant to Dr. Grenfell, noted Labrador physician and humanitarian, for the summer.

Sellar, tenth honor student in his class, was a member of varsity debate teams. was an officer in the Y. M. C. A., and majored in chemistry and biology. He will enter medical school in September at the University of Pennsylvania.

Sixty Boys For First Period At Rentz Camp

These are busy days at the Y. M. C. A. Will my boy get plenty of sleep? What are the values of a camp trip? How many blankets will my boy need? These are some of the questions of anxious mothers as sixty boys make ready for an adventure at the Fred L. Rentz Y. M. C. A. camp.

July 5th is the important day. Nine a. m. will find these same sixty boys, in front of the association, waiting to start a trip they will never forget. A trip which is of a more educational nature than parents sometimes realize. July 5th marks the opening of the association camp for this season.

In other words, Uncle Sam must remit the debts because Europe can't remit the money.

Dawes idea: "Trade rivalries and a better understanding of merchandising opportunities brought back the small shop until today these are more numerous than ever. That this is going on in industry today is the opinion of no less an authority than Horace P. Liversidge, vice-president of the Philadelphia Electric company, recently expressed in a public address. The small manufacturer, he says, has entered into active and successful competition with the big fellow. 'This condition,' he said, 'has come about historically through the development of adequate transportation facilities, through the long-distance transmission of economical power, the widespread use of such cultural agencies as newspapers, magazines and the radio, through the general forward movement of our times."

"The general looks forward to a normal future, but it will not be such a normal as marked the boom periods," suggests the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS, while the PASADENA STAR-NEWS holds that "the time is ripe for a better psychology among the people," and that "pessimism has about run its course." The SPOKANE SPOKESMAN-REVIEW predicts "a long period of sane and substantial prosperity."

Officer's Rebuke Helps Doughboy 15 Years Later

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 1—Because a buck private remembered the name of a second lieutenant who reprimanded him in France, the former doughboy today is receiving government compensation.

Not that John Harper was angered by the lieutenant's rebuke. For a wonder, Harper acknowledged that he "had it coming." The offense was lighting a cigarette while riding on a truck near the front lines at night. Harper realized that the Germans might have seen the match glare and killed them all.

Anyhow the name of the officer, Lieut. Frank Barth, stuck in his mind.

Later Harper was wounded. When he applied for compensation he couldn't remember the names of his company officers, but he did recall Lieut. Barth. Not knowing Barth's company, Harper searched thirteen years to find him.

By chance Harper met the former lieutenant last fall on the Pacific coast. Today he has his compensation.

TIN CANS USED AS TICKETS FOR MOVIES

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., July 1.—Fifteen thousand tin cans have been removed from the city by children.

They were used to pay for tickets to a movie matinee.

Mayor Lucian H. Cayce conceived the unique idea as part of cleanup week here.

He arranged a matinee for the town's children and set the admission price at 20 tin cans.

Eight hundred children crowded the theatre, bringing more than 15,000 tin cans.

Dismisses Case When Deaf Mutes Talk With Hands

(International News Service)

HOUSTON, Texas, July 1—"Silence in the court room," ordered Judge Ray Scruggs here.

The room was deathly still.

"There's still too much talking. The case is dismissed," the judge said after a pause.

The case was the trial of Gordon B. Allen, deaf mute, accused of threatening the life of J. J. Miller, another deaf mute.

The difficulty in the trial came about when attendants at the trial persisted in talking with their hands and the judge could not tell whether they were talking to the witness or to each other, nor could the interpreter as he could not see everybody at once.

"Tell the defendant to be more careful with his language after this and to hold his tongue. I mean hold everything, when he gets angry," the judge said as he dismissed the case.

BURGLARS STEAL KEYS TO MARSEILLES

(International News Service)

MARSEILLES, June 1.—If Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York City should happen to pay a visit this famous old seaport city in the near future, he would not be presented with officials keys because they are missing at the present moment.

There were two massive silver ones, kept in a showcase in the Museum of Old Marseilles along with other priceless relics which had passed through the hands of many famous men, such as Emperor Napoleon III on one of his visits here.

Burglars recently broke into the case and made away with the keys and other fine objects. If the keys do not turn up shortly new ones will be made in exact replica.

C. M. T. C. Group Ordered To Camp By Sixth Of July

Reserve Officers Also Get Orders For Training Period This Summer

Successful applicants for Citizen's Military Training Camps of the Third Corps Area this summer from the Lawrence County District have received notice to be at their respective camps by July 6.

No official list of these successful candidates for this training has yet been issued and the exact number that will go from Lawrence County is not definitely known here.

The quota of the county was 39 and there were 162 applications. Whether or not the quota will be exceeded as in former years is not now known.

Reserve officers of the district are also receiving their orders to report for training period this summer. First Lieutenant David L. Perry is reporting today as a member of the medical reserve at Holabird, Maryland for two weeks training. Captain J. L. Reed, Dental Reserve, has been ordered to report at the Carlisle, Pa., barracks on July 10, while Major W. F. Jackson has been directed to report at Fort Monroe, Va., on July 16. There are others from the district, who will report for training.

Fireworks Ban Will Be Enforced Throughout City

Chief Of Police Haven Announces That All Violations Will Be Punished

No fireworks are being sold in the city in accordance with the ban placed on the sale and use of the same by a city ordinance passed several years ago.

The police, according to Chief John F. Haven, have been instructed to adhere fully to the regulations in the matter as prescribed by city ordinance and the people are requested by the chief to refrain from bringing fireworks purchased elsewhere into the city.

All violations in the use of fireworks, as well as any sale of same, over the Fourth of July season, will be punished in accordance with the law, when the police are informed and apprehend those responsible.

Grocery Store In Erie Is Destroyed By Terrific Blast

Dozens Of Residents Of Erie District Hurled From Beds By Force Of Blast

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., July 1.—Dozens of residents were hurled from their beds early today when an explosion, followed by fire, destroyed the Varo Grocery and threatened to wipe out the entire district of an Erie suburb.

The discovery of rags, saturated with oil and gasoline, in the building led police to believe the blast was incendiary.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Varo, who with two daughters reside on the second floor were not at home when the blast occurred.

State Police are conducting an extensive investigation and indicated that early arrests will be made.

Pleas Are Taken; Sentences Passed

Majority Of Prisoners Before Court This Morning Sent To County Jail

Judges Hildebrand and Chambers held a short session of sentence court this forenoon, at which some pleas were taken and sentences passed. Several whose cases had been tried at a recent term of court were also sentenced.

William G. Graham, for possessing liquor, was fined $100 and costs, and given three months to the county jail.

Ray Huffman, who entered a plea to breaking and entering at the December term of court, was sentenced to pay $1 and costs and six months to the county jail, to date from December 1, 1931, the time when he was placed in jail.

The reason that his case had not been disposed of was that a man who was implicated with him, had made a motion for a new trial, following his conviction, and Huffman was being held as a witness. The two were connected with the larceny of some automobile tires. According to the sentence, Huffman's time is now up.

James Crawford, possessing liquor, $100 and costs and thirty days to the county jail.

James McDonald, $100 and costs and thirty days to the county jail.

Andrew Marshall, malicious mischief, thirty days to jail dating from June 1, when he was arrested.

Dan Freeman, colored, lottery and assault and battery. $50 and costs and sixty days to jail on lottery charge and costs on assault and battery charge.

Albert Zarych, manufacturing liquor, $200 and costs and four months to workhouse. Zarych said that he had only made liquor for an Easter celebration, but evidence of the officers was that several barrels of mash, a still and some finished liquor had been found in his place.

William J. Shields, violation of the gasoline tax law. Shields explained that he had been out of work, and could not get money to pay the tax. He has employment now and thought that he could pay if given time. He was paroled with the understanding that he liquidate his bill of $71.90 at the rate of $10 a month.

Fred Imocenti, 68 years old, convicted some time ago of driving a horse drawn vehicle while intoxicated, was paroled upon the payment of $100 and costs. Imocenti lives in Perry township. He has a little garden farm of 10 acres. His wife had a stroke about two weeks ago. The court explained that there is little difference between driving a horse drawn vehicle and an automobile while intoxicated, but owing to the age of the defendant, and circumstances leniency would be shown.

Josephine Genevivia, Ellwood City, possessing liquor, $100 fine and costs and four months to jail. Petition for parole will be entertained later. Mrs. Genevivia is the mother of six children. She had been tried for selling liquor, but was only found guilty of the second count, that of possessing.

Senator Nye Wins In North Dakota

(International News Service)

FARGO, N. D., July 1.—Senator Gerald P. Nye, anti-Hoover insurgent, today had a two to one lead for the Republican nomination to the U. S. Senate as reports continued to roll in from Wednesday's primary.

Returns from 1,636 precincts out of the 2,235 in the state gave him 100,005 votes as compared with 50,266 for George F. Shafer.

Society Women Skate To Reduce

(International News Service)

LYNN, Mass., July 1.—Society women of the North Shore have discovered a way to retain that "clinging vine" figure. They are roller skating on the granolithic walk along the famous shore drive.

All are dressed in smart, gay sport wear and have taken part in impromptu races.

Correct this sentence: "My convictions are products of wisdom," said the man, "and are not affected by my pocketbook."

ZOOLOGIST FEEDS SNAKES, AIDS FLYERS

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich., July 1.—Feeding snakes and observing meteorological conditions may seem widely diverse occupations but Raymond Ditmars of the Detroit Zoological gardens combines them as one of his many jobs.

Temperature at the zoo's "snake house" has to be increased several degrees when the reptiles are fed. Other weather conditions must also be suited and to help him feed his charges, Ditmars installed a complete and expensive set of weather instruments.

Now aviators in this city have become used to telephoning Ditmars asking him, possibly at two o'clock in the morning what the indications are for the coming day.

Object To Smoking By City Councilmen

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich., July 1.—Smoke screens surrounding the city council will be wafted away, according to suggestions from one taxpayer. In a letter to the council, the citizen suggested that smoking by the councilmen in the council chamber be stopped since it was objectionable to spectators.

"We might order no pipe smoking," Councilman John W. Smith said as he removed a cigar from his mouth but his associates took no action.

No Arrests Made In North Beaver Jewelry Theft

Officers Unable To Locate Men Responsible For Old Box Trick

Officers called on the case of Miss Margaret Evans, Mt. Jackson road, fleeced out of a diamond brooch and diamond ring valued at $500 on Thursday by two confidence men, using the old box trick, were unable to locate the principals in the case.

They found that one of the two men had been dickering with Miss Evans for her farm for several days and that the theft occurred yesterday, when the expected deal for the Evans farm was to have been completed.

The perpetrators of the theft used the name of Jesse Willard, former heavyweight champion of the world, to ingratiate themselves into the confidence of Miss Evans, claiming to have been associated with him in an oil deal in Oklahoma. Willard is related by marriage to Miss Evans.

Street Car Operator Hit By Automobile

Severely Bruised By Auto As He Is Changing Trolley Of His Car

Andrew Kelliher, 309 Edgewood avenue, operator of the street car lines of the city, was severely bruised Thursday evening when struck by the car of Daniel Ryan of 302 Montgomery avenue as it was being driven north on Liberty street at the end of the street car line. Mr. Kelliher was in the act of changing the trolley on his car when struck by the automobile.

Mr. Ryan drove to the left of the street car and struck Mr. Kelliher, who was on that side of his car. Mr. Kelliher was taken to the New Castle hospital, where he was retained for observation until today, when he was able to return home, having been found to have escaped injury except severe bruises of the body.

Carmen Quarella of 1129 South Mill street was en route south on South Mill street at Friendship street Thursday when a truck driven by Tony Quintiliana, en route south ahead of Mr. Quarella, made a turn to go west on Friendship street. The Quarella car crashed into the truck, doing damage to both machines. Mr. Quintiliana sustained slight injuries in the accident.

Mary Black of R. D. 8 was en route east on Montgomery avenue at Blanchard street as a car bearing Pennsylvania license S46-059, going in the same direction in front of the Black car, made a left-hand turn without signalling the intention to do so and the machines came together, causing damage to both.

But the Belgians wouldn't have been fed, either, if they had marched to Washington and demanded it.

Timely Reminders Given County Farmers

Timely reminders are given Lawrence County farmers of things to do at the present time about the farm, by the School of Agriculture of Penn State College, as follows:

Kill Potato Bugs—Where potato beetles are attacking the vines control can be obtained by spraying with a solution composed of three pounds of calcium arsenate in 100 gallons of bordeaux mixture. Four or five applications may be necessary this year because of the serious outbreak of bugs.

Evergreens Grow Slowly—Planters of evergreen seedlings on waste ground should not be discouraged with the growth of the trees the first 3 or 4 years. These trees will make up their slow start, and over a period of years will produce heavier crops of timber than many trees which start more rapidly.

Give Hogs Fresh Water—Automatic waterers supply swine with fresh drinking water when wanted. Use of an old barrel and a cast-iron fountain placed on a platform on skids will prove satisfactory. Plans for building this equipment can be obtained from the county agent.

Choose Show Cattle—Select cattle for exhibiting at fairs or shows next fall and begin grooming and fitting at once. Condition, as well as natural type, is considered by the judges. Training the animals to lead and pose is highly important.

Mark Plant Labels—Orange and red crayon can be used to mark wooden tags used as labels for growing shrubs, trees or flowering plants. As the tags become weatherbeaten, the name will be brighter.

Do Not Plant Too Deep—Deep planting of beans gives slow germination, dwarfed and weakened plants, and a poor stand. One to two inches generally is deep enough.

SWAT THE FLY

HARRISBURG, July 1. — With doors and windows closely screened, with killing sprays constantly on hand and ready for use, with old fashioned fly paper and with the latest style of fly swatter in easy reach, householders of Pennsylvania make war on the common house fly. Almost from the first warm day of spring he has been in evidence, and as the heat increases his numbers grow and the age old battle between human being and insect goes on apace.

The fly is more than a nuisance he is a menace. The Pennsylvania State Department of Health agrees that he kills thousands of people every year. He is a spreader of typhoid, tuberculosis, cholera, summer complaint and other forms of intestinal disease. He is born in filth, lives in filth, and feeds on filth; and filth is ever the enemy of health.

A glance at the fly through a powerful microscope shows that his feet are hairy and especially adapted to the carrying of disease germs. Little pads, too small to be seen by the human eye, covered with a sticky substance, are the finest germ carriers it would be possible to make. A body and a head covered closely with fine hair add to its possibilities as a purveyor of disease. It is impossible for the fly to alight on any substance containing germ life, such as decaying garbage, offal, or dead animals, and not carry to the next alighting place a part of the substance which became attached to feet and body.

The fly is a terrible feeder. He gorges constantly but never seems to satisfy his appetite. At a single meal he will eat a quantity of what to him is food, equal to half his own weight. The Connecticut Experiment Station captured such a fly at the end of his meal in a swill barrel, and found that he carried more than six million bacteria. And this menace and danger to health will, if you permit it, alight upon your food, upon your baby's face, his bottle, or his lips, with all the deadly danger of the germ laden body coming in close contact therewith and the consequent danger of infection.

From the earliest appearance of this intruder in the spring time until late autumn's frost shall have stopped his activity, all civilization must fight the fly.

12-YEAR-OLD CHILD IS SHOOTING VICTIM

CLARION, July 1.—Eleanor Harvey, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey, is in the Brookville hospital in a serious condition with a bullet wound through her abdomen as a result of being accidentally shot by a 22-caliber rifle as two young boys, James and Jerome Dillon, each fought for possession of the rifle.

An operation at the hospital revealed that the bullet had passed entirely through the body and that the liver was the only vital organ penetrated.

Hospital attaches state that the patient has a chance for recovery.

"Light One for ME"

It's pretty hard to be around a Chesterfield and not want one. That tempting aroma tells you the truth. It says . . . "Here's a milder cigarette. Here's one that tastes better."

Sure . . . there's a good reason. Several, in fact. Chesterfields contain the finest tobaccos grown.

In fact, there isn't any way for a cigarette to be purer, milder or better tasting.

No wonder so many millions of smokers say "THEY SATISFY."

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

GOOD CARE HELPS TO RETAIN EGG QUALITY

Eggs are of the highest quality when first laid, and all that the poultryman can do is to retain that for the consumer.

Gather eggs frequently. If eggs are gathered fewer than three times a day, they may become soiled and broken in the nests. Laying hens sitting on the nests do not allow the animal heat to escape from the eggs. Broody hens should be confined to prevent them from sitting on the eggs.

Clean-shelled eggs of fine interior qualtiy sell best to discriminating customers. Therefore, each poultryman should try to produce clean eggs if possible. For those that require cleaning, use a knife or coarse steel wool to remove the foreign material stuck on the shells and then wipe the eggs with a damp cloth. Washing is poor practice because it dissolves the protective coating on the shell and allows the contents of the egg to evaporate more rapidly.

A cool, well-ventilated room free from odors is recommended, as the place for holding eggs. On the farm, a cellar usually is considered best. A temperature of 55 degrees Fahrenheit is best. If eggs are held at too high a temperature, or if the animal heat is not allowed to escape soon after the eggs are laid, the egg yolk will show localized areas of heat and the albumen may become watery. Eggs absorb odors very rapidly and, therefore, should not be kept near disinfectants, coal oil, vegetables, or anything that might taint their flavor.

SALTING HAY FAILS TO IMPROVE QUALITY

There is a general belief among farmers that salting hay improves the quality and, to some extent, prevents molding when hay containing too much moisture is put into the mow or stack.

While definite experimental information on this is meager. That which is available indicated quite clearly that using of more than 20 pounds of salt per ton may cause physiological troubles. Also, that although salt delays heating a few days, it is not safe to depend on this treatment to prevent moist hay from heating and spoiling.

It was found that in nearly every case where hay contained too much moisture it finally heated and molded, even when as much as two per cent or 40 pounds of salt to the ton were used.

The only benefit from the delay would be where there is only slightly more moisture than is safe and when the weather is very favorable for curing. Under those conditions, the hay might have sufficient time to dry. As to the quality, it was found in the experiments that salting did not change the chemical composition nor convert poor hay into good hay.

FIGHT MEXICAN BEAN BEETLE WITH POISON

To save the beans from destruction by Mexican bean beetles, give the insects a full meal of stomach poison. Either spraying or dusting may be used.

A choice of four dusts and two sprays is offered. The dusts include calcium arsenate, 1 pound; dusting sulphur, 1 pound, and hydrated lime 4 pounds; or calcium arsenate 1 pound, and hydrated lime 7 pounds; or magnesium arsenate, 1 pound; and hydrated lime, 5 pounds, or sodium fluosilicate, 1 pound, and hydrated lime 9 pounds.

One of the sprays includes ¾ pound of calcium arsenate, 1½ pounds of hydrated lime, and 50 gallons of water, or smaller proportions where less material is needed. The other spray contains 1 pound of magnesium arsenate and 50 gallons of water, or smaller portions where needed.

The materials should be thoroughly mixed and directed to the under sides of the leaves where the beetles feed principally. To avoid burning or scalding, the dusts should be applied when there is no moisture on the beans.

The first application should be applied when the over-wintering adults appear, or at least when the first injury or skeletonizing of the foliage is noticed. This time usually is when the third and fourth leaves begin to show. One to four applications should be made at 7 to 10-day intervals, the number of applications depending on the severity of the infestation.

There is no danger in treating bean plants after they begin to bear, since rinsing in cold water removes the spray or dust residue.

CODLING MOTH WORMS THREATEN APPLE CROP

In certain orchards where codling moth has caused tremendous damage since 1930, the forms are entering the apples.

This movement is particularly noticeable where fruits have not been thoroughly covered by sprays. During the last few weeks apples have grown rapidly, and the hatching of codling moths is at its height. More attention, therefore, must be paid to keeping a poisonous cover on the fruit, and especially to spraying from the inside so that all surfaces of the fruit, are covered. Any part of the apple not covered with spray is likely to be selected by the worms as a point of entrance.

If examinations show fruit that is uncovered, the orchards should be sprayed again as soon as possible, since this is the critical stage.

KILL POTATO PESTS WITH POISON SPRAY

Flea beetles still are competing with potato bugs in attacks on the potato fields of Lawrence County, especially in fields unsprayed or poorly sprayed.

Thorough coverage of the foliage with the bordeaux arsenical spray is recommended for control of these pests. Use 3 pounds of calcium in 100 gallons of bordeaux mixture. Because of the unusually large number of insects present the poison should be included in each spray until the beetles disappear.

"Her Nerves are Ragged . . . She Can't Face Another Day of Work"

"I can't go through another day . . . oh, what is the matter? What shall I do"? Did you ever feel this way yourself?

Nearly Nervous Prostration

DO you know her . . . this poor woman who wakes up as tired as she went to bed?

Her head is still aching . . . her nerves are ragged . . . she's on the verge of tears as she faces another day of work.

"I can't go through it again . . . I can't. Oh, what is the matter? What shall I do?" she cries.

How many young women are fast approaching a nervous breakdown because they let suffering due to female weakness rob them of their strength and health.

In offices or in their homes, they drive themselves, working "on their nerve." Hoping against hope that tomorrow they will feel better . . . but instead they become more and more prostrated.

It is a double tragedy because it is so unnecessary.

Nature did not mean women to suffer so cruelly. If they would only try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound! It has befriended women against their "peculiar" troubles for over 50 years.

It brings soothing, comforting relief . . . gently corrects through its strengthening tonic action the cause of the headaches and backaches that wear you out. Drives away the awful lassitude that kills ambition and makes life a burden.

This simple, safe remedy has justly earned its place in the Family Medicine Cabinet.

ROOSEVELT HAS MAJORITY ON FIRST BALLOT

Two Thirds Rule Prevents Victory

Little Change Is Shown In Second Ballot Early This Morning

SMITH IS SECOND IN EARLY VOTING

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

STADIUM, CHICAGO, July 1.—The first ballot taken on the presidential nomination in the Democratic National Convention failed to give any of the nine candidates the required two-thirds majority.

Franklin D. Roosevelt had a clear majority of the convention with Alfred E. Smith the runner-up, and Speaker John Garner of Texas, third.

Governor Roosevelt more than 100 votes short of the 770 required, even though Missouri, after first casting its entire 36 votes for James A. Reed, changed its vote after the completion of the roll call to 24 for Reed and 12 for Roosevelt.

First Ballot

The official first ballot totals were:

Roosevelt 666 1-4.
Smith 201 3-4.
Garner 90 1-4.

It took almost two hours to complete the first ballot in the turbulent convention, due to disputes over instruction and demands for polls of the individual delegations.

The unprecedented spectacle was witnessed in a Democratic National convention of the leader of Tammany Hall asking the chair to poll the big New York delegation. John F. Curry made the request when New York was reached on the roll call.

"Why?" demanded the astonished chairman, Senator Walsh of Montana.

"Because," was the equally astonishing reply from John F. Curry the Tammany leader, "I cannot ascertain the vote."

Much Wrangling

Almost continuous wrangling marked the conduct of the New York poll.

Many of the New Yorkers, including Mayor Jimmy Walker, were discovered to be absent when their names were called. Mayor Walker ultimately showed up at 5:30 a. m. and cast his vote for Al Smith.

The poll showed 65½ for Al Smith and 28½ for Gov. Roosevelt.

The roll call was started shortly after 4 o'clock and was not completed until after 6 o'clock, as the sun was streaming into the windows of the stadium on a weary and haggard set of delegates.

The tellers took a long while to tabulate the votes which apparently made the anti-Roosevelt forces suspicious that it was being unnecessarily delayed in order to give other states a chance to change in their votes for James J. Hooey of New York demanded that the results be announced.

Chairman Walsh gravely explained that due to changes in the votes it had delayed the tabulation.

Second Roll Call

After announcing the official totals, Walsh said:

"No candidate having received the necessary two-thirds the clerk will call the roll again."

Connecticut moved for an adjournment until 9 o'clock tonight just as the second roll call started.

Walsh said it was out of order as the balloting had been started.

The taking of the first ballot presented a spectacle unprecedented probably in any Democratic national convention except the historic Madison Square Garden show, not only from the standpoint of time, but in turbulence and confusion as well.

The galleries, apparently all anti-Roosevelt, whooped at all the anti-Roosevelt votes and groaned or "booed" the Roosevelt votes.

Four delegations demanded polls on the first ballot, New York, Iowa, Minnesota and the District of Columbia.

Connecticut, voting solidly for Smith under the unit rule, tried to force an adjournment until 9 o'clock tonight just after chairman Walsh had ordered the second roll call begun. The reading clerk had called on "Alabama."

Walsh ruled that because the roll call had been started a motion to adjourn was not in order.

Second Ballot

The second ballot started off about the same as the first, except that Roosevelt picked up two delegates in Indiana. Indiana evidently was "playing" with a specified number of votes for the Hoosiers split their thirty votes among four candidates.

There were interruptions in the second ballot as well.

Minnesota demanded to be polled with the same result as on the first roll call, 20 for Roosevelt, three for Smith and one for Ritchie.

When Ohio was reached W. W. Durbin of that delegation "challenged the accuracy" of the vote and asked that it be polled.

Durbin is one of the Roosevelt leaders in the state and recently made an unsuccessful effort to have Gov. George White withdrawn as Ohio's favorite son in favor of Gov. Roosevelt.

Durbin did not make his move until after Ohio had again cast her ballot "52 for Gov. White."

Roosevelt Gains Few

The second ballot did not vary greatly from the original ballot except that Roosevelt picked up a few additional votes in Indiana and Missouri.

Missouri left James A. Reed at the end of the first ballot, in fact before, as on the completion of the roll call the vote was changed from 36 for Reed to 24 for Reed and 12 for Roosevelt.

On the second ballot, Missouri was evenly divided, 18 and 18, as between Reed and Roosevelt.

At 7 o'clock near the completion of the second roll call the delegates had been in the stadium continuously for ten hours and prior to that had spent six hours here, with a three hour recess for dinner.

Roosevelt leaders sitting on the stage with their pencils and paper declared in answer to questions that they were "going straight to nomination if it took all day."

While the Ohio delegation was being polled, John W. Davis who emerged from the hectic Madison Square Garden convention as the nominee, and to whom this scene must have been reminiscent, strolled out to get a breath of air. He had been asleep in his chair for an hour.

Considerable delay marked the polling of the Ohio delegation, for as in New York on the previous ballot, there proved to be some absentees. There was constant heckling back and forth between chairman Walsh on the platform and the Ohio delegation.

It required almost four hours to complete two ballots, as the first one was started soon after four a. m., after an all night session, and the second was not completed until after 8 a. m.

This was due to the almost incessant wrangling that accompanied each ballot, necessitating polling of the large New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania delegations, as well as some of the smaller ones.

Both ballots were taken amid scenes which paralleled if they did not exceed the most turbulent scenes of Madison Square Garden.

Immediately after the second ballot, the Roosevelt managers, huddled on the platform, proposed an adjournment until 4 p. m.

They had opposed adjournment after the first ballot when the anti-Roosevelt allies had demanded one, as they were confident that with 666 votes on the first they could push the New York Governor over the line on the second.

When they failed to do so, Arthur Mullen, the Roosevelt floor manager, proposed the rest.

Then it was the anti-Roosevelt forces' turn to object and they did so emphatically.

Congresswoman Mary Norton of the New Jersey delegation and Dudley Field Malone in the New York delegation objected.

The chairman, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, put the question and there appeared an almost equal division of the "ayes" and "noes."

Malone then demanded a roll call. It was ordered, but just as it was about to be started, Mullein hastily withdrew his motion and the third ballot on the Presidency was ordered and undertaken immediately.

The anti-Roosevelt allies claimed to have assurances that the Roosevelt strength would begin to crumble after the third ballot and they wanted to stay at it.

NEW CANTON MAYOR

CANTON, July 1—James Seccombe, who had served two terms as a ward councilman, was sworn into the office of mayor to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mayor C. C. Curtis.

Seccombe immediately assumed the duties of the office.

Declining Birth Rate World Wide

(Special to The News)

HARRISBURG, July 1.—"The steadily declining birth rate of the state of Pennsylvania which has been a feature of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, State Department of Health for the past decade, is not a situation that is confined to this commonwealth alone, but is practically world wide" said D. Jones, Chief of that Bureau today.

"Since the year 1914, when the the rate was 27.0, and the highest since records have been kept by the State Department of Health, the rate has systematically come down, with very slight variations, until 1931 recorded a rate of 18.3. The first quarter of 1932 shows a further reduction in the number of births, and the rate for the three months is slightly above 17.0, or the lowest since the Department gathered data.

"The number of births in the larger cities of the world is on the decline, and not a single one of the 14 largest cities in America failed to record a drop in the birth rate for 1931. In only two cities in the whole world did the rate advance and those are Glasgow and Rio Janerio.

"Fewer babies were born in England and Wales than any other previous time on record, according to the figures gathered for the last quarter of 1931, the rate established there being much lower than that in America, or only 14.6 per 1,000 population. One American city, Boston, showed a birth rate that had declined 22 per cent from the previous year, in 1931. The rate in Pennsylvania for 1931, which was 18.3 was a decline of 1.3 from the previous year. Present trends in the birth rate for 1932 will show about the same reduction, if maintained during the other three quarters of the year.'

Suggested reasons for declining birth rates, are: the restriction of immigration, which applies to the United States only; decline in the marriage rates; the advance in the average age of marriage; and (perhaps the most important of all) the increased employment of girls and women in industry.

SLIPPERY ROCK

MEET IN NEW HALL

The first meeting in the new hall of the Slippery Rock Grange was held on Friday evening with a large attendance. Mrs. Glenn Dunlap the lecturer of the Grange presented a splendid opening program as follows:

Army Requires Men For Service In Hawaiian Post

Opportunity Will Be Afforded Young Men To See World And Study

An opportunity will be afforded young men of this district beginning July 5 to enlist for service in the United States army in the Hawaiian Islands, one of the most delightful and picturesque stations maintained by the army.

On that date, recruiting by the army for that department of the service will be resumed and young men interested should call at the office of the army recruiting service in the St. Cloud building, room 303, between 9 a. m. and 12 o'clock noon for preliminary examination.

This examination will be held at this special designated time and it is anticipated that the men required will be secured at this time, so that the young men interested in service with the army in Hawaiian Islands should be on hand at the time and place designated. Only those making the best marks will be taken for this service.

Pymatuning Calls 30 More To Work

Today's Request Asks That Quota For Next Week; Drafting List

Thirty additional Lawrence county applicants for Pymatuning dam work will be summoned to the dam site in two different groups next week, General Secretary R. L. Meermans, superintendent of the state's co-operative employment office here, announced at noon.

Meermans received from F. C. Borst, state assignment man, calls for 10 Lawrence county men on Wednesday, July 6. On that day 10 Beaver county men will also leave. On Thursday, July 7, 20 more Lawrence county workers are to leave.

The separation of next week's quota has been made necessary by the limited facilities to be had at the Pymatuning camps for examining applicants.

Lists of the workmen will be announced later.

Body Of Missing Franklin Man Is Found In River

(International News Service)

FRANKLIN, Pa., July 1.—Missing for 48 hours, the body of William Castman, 25, who had gone hunting woodchucks, Tuesday, was recovered in a 25-foot hole in French Creek, near here Thursday.

Castman apparently intended to wade the creek when he stepped into the treacherous hole. Unable to swim and weighted down by his heavy clothing, he perished by drowning.

Submarginal Lands Problem Intensified By Depression Most Difficult Of Solution

By ARTHUR M. HYDE
Secretary of Agriculture.

The economic definition of subnormal land is a slippery, elusive thing. The definition from a social point of view is simple enough. It is land on which no farmer, however skillful, can support a decent standard of living. It is the old, old, tragic story of someone trying to get bread out of a stone.

Suggestions have come from various sources that the answer to the problem of submarginal lands is purchase and reforestation by the government. There probably are areas which possess so high a value for national uses that they should be acquired. National uses, under our present policy, include watershed protection, national forests, parks, and game preserves.

Possibly sound policy would include acquisition to stop erosion and to conserve the soil for future generations. There are other areas in which the continuance of the economic life of whole communities depends upon the maintenance of some national resource, such as forests, which provides raw materials and employment to farmers and workmen in small towns.

In such instances acquisition, either by federal or state governments, or jointly, may be justified; but to purchase all of the submarginal areas is hopelessly impossible. There are 636,000,000 acres classed as land in farms, which are not now plowed. Of these, 500,000,000 acres are suitable in point of lay of land and climatic conditions for cultivation. Three hundred million acres require no clearing. These are not suitable for forests. It should be remembered, too, that many millions of acres now under cultivation are submarginal.

To acquire all such land would require many billions of dollars. Such a program would displace millions of people. On so large a scale, it would undermine the economic base of schools, communities, and counties. I doubt if conditions, economic and financial, would ever make the recapture of these hundreds of millions of acres desirable. Certainly there is no justification for it now.

What, then, can be done? The answer lies in the vast waste of human and material resources now taking place in our rural areas.

Erosion has already gashed and gullied our countrysides and ruined 21,000,000 acres beyond repair. The wastage of natural resources in the east and south has already sapped the economic strength of communities of farmers and small towns. Every one of these conditions presents problems of economic readjustment and political reorganization which might conceivably change a loss into a modest profit.

Have You Heard It Said—

"That everything came down in price except PRESCRIPTIONS." We overheard the above conversation—not knowing the parties we could not interfere.

We are telling them now that they never had their PRESCRIPTIONS filled in our stores—or they would know better.

PRESCRIPTIONS filled in both of our stores—at prices consistent with quality drugs and chemicals.

Evans And Lamoree Are Granted Patent

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—Archibald D. Evans and James K. Lamoree of New Castle have just received from the United States Patent Office the patent rights on a sheet handling mechanism of their own invention.

Evans and Lamoree, as co-inventors, filed application with the Patent Office for the rights on their mechanism July 22, 1929. They were forced to wait almost three years for recognition and received their patent only this week.

The patent allowed the two New Castle men protects three novel features of the invention. They have assigned their rights to the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company.

The Official Patent Gazette describes the invention as:

A sheet piling mechanishm comprising in combination a pair of supporting bars, a stationary side guide member mounted on said bars, an L-shaped guide-carrying frame slidably mounted on said bars for movement toward and away from said frame on said bars, a normally stationary end guide-plate carried by said frame and adjustable toward and away from said frame.

Apollo Club To Have Reunion

Old Time Male Glee Club To Meet On July Fourth

Members of the Apollo Club, an old time male glee club of this city will hold their annual reunion on July 4, at Beech Glen, the summer camp of Senator George T. Weingartner on the Slippery Rock Creek. Former members from New Castle, Youngstown and Akron will be in attendance and a crowd is expected.

The Apollo Club was organized in 1912 by a few musicians and Richard E. Johns elected director. For a number of years the club presented concerts within a radius of 100 miles of New Castle and during its existence built an enviable reputation. Mr. Johns was the only director the ilub ever had, although out of the membership came a number of musicians who have since made their mark in the music world.

Loyal E. Carlon, now a member of the faculty of Peabody Conservatory of Baltimore was the club violinist at one time, John Holland now conducting a music studio in Pittsburgh and Butler was the club pianist, another pianist who made good was Justin Williams who is in concert and studio work in New York. Tom Williams, a baritone soloist later went into the operatice field in New York and is now engaged in concert recitals there.

The president of the club is William W. McGaughey, chief clerk to the general superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Akron, O. The reunion committee here is in charge of Charles Harris, chairman.

Seeking a Peace Plank

Leading the fight for the cause under the banner of which they have spent the best part of a life time campaigning, Mary McDowell (left) of the University of Chicago settlement, and Jane Addams, famous social worker and founder of Hull House, are shown as they headed a parade to the Democratic convention hall to demand the inclusion of a peace plank in the party platform. Miss Addams was co-winner of the Nobel Peace Prize for 1931.

Boards Discuss Community Chest

Joint Meeting Of Chamber Of Commerce And Chest Directors Held

Directors of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce and the New Castle Community Chest held a luncheon meeting at The Castleton at noon, Thursday for the purpose of discussing ways and means of developing closer cooperation between and among the agencies for the 1932 Community Chest campaign.

In the absence of President L. G. Genkinger and the vice presidents of the Chamber of Commerce, due to illness, Judge James A. Chambers presided as chairman of the meeting.

After a general discussion, it was the concensus of opinion that the Community Chest has functioned efficiently and to the best interests of the community during the past year.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will be held at a luncheon at noon in The Castleton on Thursday, July 7, for the purpose of devising ways and means of giving further assistance to the 1932 Community Chest campaign.

Those who were present at yesterday's meeting were: Judge James A. Chambers, P. J. Flaherty, T. H. Hartman, John A. Lamb, James K. Love, W. F. Moody, Fred L. Rentz, James M. Smith Sr., Alfred W. Chilton, secretary and Margaret M. Frank assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce: while the representatives of the Community Chest included: Grace Phillips Johnson, president; James K. Lutherans Gather At Zelienople Home

Annual Visitation Day Is Held At Orphans Home And Children Present Pageant

The members of the St. Paul's St. John's and Bethany Lutheran churches of this city were among those who attended the annual visitation and donation day at the Zelienople Orphans Home, Thursday. The home is under the supervision of the Pittsburgh Synod, of which the local churches are a part.

The affair was an all day one, with a lunch served at noon and refreshments during the afternoon.

Dr. R. W. Doty of Butler made the address of the afternoon and C. W. White, the superintendent of the home, gave a talk on his work.

The children presented a most spectacular Washington bi-centennial program and the band from the home played throughout the day. Articles made by those residing at the home were offered for sale and the proceeds are to be used in the up-keep of the place.

Directors of the home include Dr. R. W. Doty, W. W. Allbeck, L. A. Houk, C. W. Herman Hess, Peter Graff III., and G. Passavant.

Services Begin At Mission House

Rev. Andy Koonce of Omaha, Neb., formerly of this city, preached a splendid sermon on "Ye Must Be Born Again" at the Neighborhood House, which meets in the German Baptist church on Reynolds street, and the auditorium was well filled with young people and adults of that district, with a number of supervisors of the mission in charge.

There will be another service this evening at 8 o'clock with Rev. Koonce as the speaker, and Sunday evening Rev. Richard Owrey of the People's Mission will be the guest speaker.

YOUNG COUPLE OF GROVE CITY WED

GROVE CITY, July 1.—Another beautiful wedding was solemnized in the Trinity Lutheran church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock when Miss Roberta J. Melcher, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Melcher and John Edwin Nordstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Nordstrom, were united in marriage by the bride's father.

The service was read before the altar, which was banked with palms, ferns and baskets of summer flowers.

Both are well-known members of Grove City's younger set. Mrs. Nordstrom is a graduate of Grove City high school, and Grove City College and has taken advanced work at Columbia University. She was head of the physical education department for women at Grove City College for one year and has served in that capacity for the past three years at Bucknell, Lewisburg, Pa.

Mr. Nordstrom is also a graduate of the two local schools and is associated with his father in the Machine Shop Equipment Company.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Miss Edith Schillinger and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Street and family of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Miller, New Castle; Miss Amelia E. Clark and Miss Betty Lawson, Lewisburg; Mrs. Edith Corrin and daughter, Jean, Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sisley, Jackson Center.

American 'Teddy' Lacks Appeal For French Girls

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 1.—The underlying causes of Madame's chic this season are contributing to combat that big depression wave. We're speaking of smart undies, of course, which in spite of hard times, continue to be as daintily lovely as ever before, and perhaps even a bit more luxurious.

Culottes are snug and clinging about the waist and hip, flaring out at the bottom. Chemises are almost the same and generally lavishly trimmed with lace.

Worth uses pale sea-green triple voile for a lovely new chemise, with pleated ruffle at the bottom and a satin belt holding the high waistline close beneath clusters of hand-run tucks. Silk-embroidered leaves makes a yoke at the top of this chemise and of course there are little panties (culottes) to match.

The pretty Parisienne still favors this culottes-chemise combination for her underlying problems, wearing her corset and brassier beneath. She has never taken very cheerfully to the American "Teddy". Some are adopting Vionnet's silk maillots, made like a one-piece bathing suit for evening, with no silk slip beneath the gown.

Pale pink satin cut on the bias makes another smart chemise trimmed only with hemstitched lines to cover the seams. Culottes to wear with it come in satin with a hem of self-colored chiffon set on in zig-zag embroidered lines.

Alencon trims white satin for a number of the prettiest sets of mid-season undies seen beneath new frocks, the lace providing sufficient fulness with no bulk.

Horse Destined To Vanish From London Streets

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 1—The horse is destined to vanish from the streets of London.

One of the last mementos of old-fashioned rusticity may be the victim of a newly invented, ten horse-power tractor, a closely guarded secret of a London motor works.

This invention is a mechanical substitute for the horse, which is being blamed for traffic congestion.

If the tractor succeeds, it may mean Dobbin's complete elimination from city streets, and a forced retreat to the sticks, for better, faster, and cheaper service is expected from the tractor.

It is understood that "the mechanical horse" will be ready for production soon.

Talking Clock Is Parisian Novelty

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 1—A clock that talks is going to give Parisians the correct time in the near future. It has been designed by M. Esclangon, director of the Paris Observatory, who used a principle employed in the talking-film.

The inventor produced a robot chronometer which announces the hour, the minute and the second, by day and night, every ten seconds. Several of them are to be installed in the Observatory and telephone subscribers who ask for a certain number will be plugged through to one of the robots and hear the time it announces.

TRAIN PROSPECTORS TO SEEK GOLD

(International News Service)

TUCSON, July 1.—Striving to aid unemployment by sending trained gold prospectors into the mountains, the University of Arizona College of Mines has inaugurated a short course in the finding of precious metals. More than 150 have enrolled, including 20 women.

Through extension courses, several hundred men and women already have started prospecting. Dr. G. M. Butler, dean of the college, estimates that there are several thousand more prospectors in the hills and canyons of the Southwest now than there were when the big strikes of the '80's and '90's were made.

Engineer Loses Conductor, Train

(International News Service)

HIAWATHA, Kans., July 1.—R. A. Hudson, engineer for the Missouri Pacific railroad, pulled his whistle cord for the station here, set his brakes and rolled to a gentle stop.

He looked for the conductor to bring him a copy of train orders. To his astonishment he had no conductor—nor any train.

He appealed to the sheriff to assist him in finding the passenger cars.

The sheriff suggested a trip back down the tracks. The cars were found intact fourteen miles from here.

No explanation of how the passenger coaches became detached from the engine was offered.

Soot, Mon! Scotch Are Selling It

(International News Service)

ABERDEEN, July 1— Scotch housewives are now stacking the soot from their chimneys with utmost care and selling it for exportation to America.

Last month 160 tons of this black substance were exported from this city alone to America.

The universal adoption in the United States of central heating has made soot—one of the biggest essentials in horticulture and agriculture—a rare commodity.

Scotch nurserymen and farmers are now having a hard time obtaining soot as American agents are offering better prices than Scotchmen can afford to pay.

CYCLONE UNCOVERS TENNESSEE STILL

(International News Service)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 1.—It's an ill wind—

Deputies from the office of Sheriff Will Bacon were aiding in rescues work just after a cyclone struck north farming communities in Shelby county. Deputy Agent Livingston noticed that Sims Rushing, negro, walked rapidly away from the rescuers.

He followed to see the negro throw away a pint of whisky.

"And that's my last pint, too," moaned Sims.

The agents found a small still, undamaged by the winds, behind the Rushing home.

FLOCK QUENCHES FIRE

(International News Service)

JACKSON, O.—When the cry "fire" was sounded during a prayer by Rev. T. E. Kinnison, pastor of the Methodist Church at Winchester, near here, the entire congregation rushed out of the church and formed a bucket brigade to save the home of Mrs. Dora Peart. After extinguishing the fire, the congregation returned to the church and services were resumed.

Washington's Speech At Brown University Unearthed

(International News Service)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 1—With the celebration this year of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, many interesting documents and records have been uncovered regarding the movements of "The Father of his Country."

In a recent search of the early records of Brown University from 1764 to 1800, Frederick T. Guild, University registrar, brought to light the address of welcome presented to Washington, August 18, 1790, on the occasion of a visit to Brown as President of the United States, and Washington's reply.

The President, with Thomas Jefferson and others, came to town to hear the kind words spoken and in the evening took his historic walk "on the college green, to view the illumination of that edifice, which was done by the students, and made a most splendid appearance," the record said.

The address to Washington follows, in part:

"Though among the last to congratulate you on your advancement to that dignified and important station to which the unanimous voice of a grateful country has called you, the corporation of Rhode Island College claims to be among the first in warmth of affection for your person, and in esteem for your public character.

"In placing you at the head of the United States regard was had no less to the influence of your example over the morals of the people than to your talents in the administration of government

"For the preservation of this freedom one great object still demands our pecular attention; the education of our youth—your sentiments, Sir, on this subject, 'That knowledge is in every country, the surest basis of public happiness' and that strongest barrier against despotism, as they accord with the most celebrated characters which ever adorned human nature; so they have no room to apprehend you will refuse the wreath with which the guardians of literature, here, would entwine your brow."

After express thanks for Washington's recovery from an illness, the address concludes:

"That you may long remain on earth a blessing to mankind and the support of your country! That you may afterward receive the rewards of virtue by having the approbation of God, is our most sincere desire and fervent supplication."

Washington's reply was brief. He said:

"While I cannot remain insensible to the indulgence with which you regard the influence of my example and the tenor of my conduct, I rejoice in having so favorable an opportunity of felicitating the State of Rhode Island on the cooperation I am sure to find in the measures adopted by the guardians of literature in this place, for improving the morals of the rising generation and inculcating upon their minds principals, peculiarly calculated for the preservation of our rights and liberties. You may rely on whatever protection I may be able to afford in so important an object as the educatiin for our youth.

"I will now conclude, gentlemen, by expressing my acknowledgments for the tender manner in which you mention the restoration of my health on a late occasion, and with ardent wishes that Heaven may prosper the literary institution under your care, in giving you the best of its blessings in this world, as well as the world to come."

Suggests Hoover Ask Congress To Modify Dry Law

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, July 1—A plea that he address a message to Congress recommending immediate modification of the Volstead Act so as to permit manufacture, sale and transportation of beer awaited President Hoover's consideration early today.

Henry W. Kiel, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator from Missouri, in a telegram dispatched to the president last night, declared that an overwhelming sentiment in favor of modification exists in Missouri.

KILLED BY AERIAL

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash.,—Edwin Kuhn, a mail carrier here, was instantly electrocuted when a radio aerial he was trying to drop from a roof to his apartment window came in contact with a live wire. Kuhn's fiancee, Miss Lucile Golando, was in the apartment helping him get settled when the tragedy occurred.

Airway Lighting Necessary For Night Flying In Japan

(International News Service)

TOKYO, July 1.—Testing for the first time the feasibility of long distance night flying over the mountainous terrain of Southern Japan, officials of the Japan Air Transport Company have announced successful termination of a flight from the neighborhood of Nagasaki to Haneda Field, near Tokyo, a distance of 575 miles.

Carrying a pilot and six passengers, company and department of communications officials, the plane was seven hours and twenty minutes en route.

The pilot said he experienced difficulty in the total darkness. His only guides were the lights of towns along the way. As distinction between land and sea was difficult, he frequently mistook ships' lights for those of a seashore community.

The flight strongly brought out the need of airway lighting, was the consensus of opinion. The pilot described his course as being "zig-zaggy," owing to the necessity of using available city lights as aids to navigation. Lighthouses, which were expected to be of service, proved of little help.

The flight has given some emphasis to the need for airway lighting in Japan. Officials who made the trip at night suggested that regular airway beacons, equipped with lights of 500,000 to 1,000,000 candle power, be installed every ten or twelve miles, particularly through mountainous regions.

The night flight was declared extremely pleasant to every one. At times the plane was forced to climb to an altitude of 6,000 feet to avoid clouds. Only occasionally, however, were they "flying blind."

Regular scheduled night service is still impossible, despite the success of the trial, the air company officers declared. Until beacons are erected, flying would not be sufficiently safe for commercial night trips, they explained.

MANY GOING INSANE, ASYLUM HEAD WARNS

(International News Service)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 1.—More young persons are going insane than at any time in history, Dr. E. W. Cocke, superintendent of the West Tennessee Asylum at Boliver declared here.

"Apply the brakes to fast living" he warned.

"It's the old, old story of wine, women and song" he said, "complicated chiefly by the sorry grade of liquor our young people are drinking today.

"We have more alcoholic cases than before prohibition went into effect. Altogether there is an alarming increase in the number of young people committed to insane asylums."

SALT LAKE CITY, July 1.—Maybe taking a fellow to the dentist is a proper way to celebrate "Be Kind to Animals Week," but Tommy doesn't think so. Tommy is a large black ape in the city zoo.

It took half a dozen men to overcome Tommy's objections to leaving his fellows yesterday and it took four others, including Dr. S. S. Burnham, Zoo dentist, to induce him to sit in the chair.

Then Dr. George A. Allen, a physician and president of the Salt Lake Zoological Society, had to administer 1½ cans of ether before the troublesome molar could be X-rayed and extracted.

Christopher, At Democratic Meet Sees Merry Show

Jefferson Street Young Man Gains Stadium Seat To Relish Noise

"I looked for the gravel to smash the speakers' stand...Al Smith seemed to know everybody...Governor Ritchie of Maryland has looks that can't be equalled...The gallery seemed to be having its say... Tickets were selling around $30... Gene Tunney and Will Rigers' talks got attention... So-called 'Kingfish' Huey Long of Alabama was making a characteristic stir.

Add all this up and you'd have only a glimpse of what Charles Christopher, South Jefferson street, local public school teacher, saw at the Democratic convention in Chicago on Tuesday.

Christopher was admitted thru the efforts of W. J. Baer and William Eroe, the county's Democratic representatives at the session, Pittsburgh Democrats played a hand in helping Christopher 'crash the gate.'

While in the Chicago area, Christopher visited his brother, Benny, formerly of this city, at Indiana Harbor, Ind.

Christopher leaves here tomorrow to enter Penn State's summer school.

Smith And Murray Fail To Get Sleepy Through Balloting

Al Smith And "Alfalfa" Bill Murray Outlast Other Candidates In All-Night Voting

(International News Service)

STADIUM, Chicago, July 1—If the Democratic presidential nomination was to be decided in the same manner as a marathon dance the fight would lie between ex-governor Alfred E. Smith and Gov. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray.

At 7:30 a. m. while the delegates were still being polled on the second ballot Al Smith was discovered in a radio booth regaling two announcers with stories of the fishing in the Adirondack Mountains. Meanwhile Murray was sitting with the Oklahoma delegation explaining to several farmers in the group the reason why they weren't able to raise a satisfactory crop of corn.

The other candidates had given up long ago and had either gone to sleep or to their homes which were equipped with radio.

"ALL-BRAN LIVES UP TO REPUTATION"

Her Constipation Overcome by This Delicious Cereal

If you are troubled with constipation, read Miss Bundy's enthusiastic letter:

"I would like to congratulate the one who discovered ALL-BRAN. It really does live up to its reputation when it is said to 'relieve constipation.'

"I used to feel poor all the time—just down and out—and after reading an advertisement in a magazine about ALL-BRAN I got a box. It has evermore helped me, and it is not hard at all to eat."—Miss Mary Bundy, Bennettsville, S. C.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN brings two things needed to correct common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes.

How much safer than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY GETS JACKSON'S CANE

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 1.—A cane, symbolic of "Old Hickory," carried by Andrew Jackson while he was president of the United States, will be presented to the Missouri Historical Society by Conrad Mann, president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce.

Mann has owned the cane since 1924, when it was willed to him by Rrepresentative Thomas L. Reilly.

GUESTS "ROLL" HOST OF 10-YEAR SAVINGS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—For 10 years John Krousetsky labored at many and varied jobs to save up the $460 with which he intended to visit his parents in Poland.

He drew the money from a bank and told friends of his plans. They arranged a farewell party.

The guest of honor, according to police, quaffed a few drinks, and soon fell fast asleep.

LORD MAYOR GREETS DELEGATES

Major J. J. Troy, left chaplain and head of the St. Paul, Minn., delegation to the Eucharistic Congress, in Dublin, and the Rev. Philip Gordon, Chippewa Indian priest, are greeted by the Lord Mayor of Dublin, as they took part in the ceremonies.

CROWDS WATCH LINDY LEAVE TRIAL

H. S. ALUMNI MEET TONIGHT

Annual Reunion To Take Place At Cathedral—Expect Hundreds

Graduates, old and young, of the New Castle High School, will gather this evening for the annual reunion of former students of the school, at the Cathedral.

Between four and five hundred will participate in the dinner that will be held in the dining room at 6:30 p. m. Joseph Replogle and an orchestra of fifteen pieces from the high school will play during the dinner hour.

Following the dinner at about 8:15 p. m. the entertainment announced last night will be presented in the auditorium of the cathedral. Not only those in attendance at the dinner but all other planning to attend the dance and card party will be welcome at this feature, which will be one of the pleasing events of the evening.

Dancing and card playing will take up the balance of the evening. Ted Marlin, an alumnus, and his orchestra, will play for the dance. The January and June class members of 1932 will be guests of the Alumni at the affair.

The eligible list for attendance at the affair includes every person, who ever attended High School.

Heavy Fine May Be Imposed On People Who Damage Books

Damage done to library books and magazines is punishable in Pennsylvania by a heavy fine or imprisonment or both, in addition to making good the damage.

A state law of some years' standing provides that a person who shall wilfully cut, mutilate or otherwise injure any book, volume, map, magazine or newspaper belonging to any public library shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be liable for each offense, to a fine of not more than $100.00 or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months, or both; moreover he shall be liable to make good the damage in addition to fine and imprisonment.

Some of the damage done to library books is thoughtlessly done by persons reading with a pencil in hand. Some books are pencilled with crosses or underscored or annotated by a reader who wishes to leave an impressioin on subsequent readers of the book. This is a form of egotism which sometimes finds expression in cutting initials or other inscriptions in public places. Multilation by cutting coupons from magazines and pictures or poems or articles from books is another form of damage. This disqualifies the book for another person's use. It is disconcerting to say the least to be directed by the index to a certain page for wanted material only to find that the material has been lifted out.

Persons who do these things lose sight of the fact that the books and magazines are public property, bought from public funds, paid for by taxes. Replacing wilfully damaged books is an expense which should be unnecessary.

Books are carcfully examined for defacement of any kind and the library board is prepared to take action against any offender.

Discuss Methods To Clean Streams

Dr. Theodore B. Appel Tells Of Steps Which Have Been Taken By State

HARRISBURG July 1—"The control of pollution in the streams of the state of Pennsylvania is necessarily a function for the government of the comonwealth to perform." said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health and Chairman of the Sanitary Water Board, today in discussing the conservation of Pennsylvania's water resources.

"A strong factor in this movement is the resentment of sportsmen against the gradual disappearance of fish and other acquatic life in the streams where for so long they had been accustomed to find them. Eventually legislation was secured to abate the evil, and the Purity of Waters Act was passed This was followed some nine years ago by the establishment of the Sanitary Water Board.

"Pollution conditions can not be solved locally, for the correction of conditions at one point may be rendered futile by the pouring in of raw sewage or industrial waste by half a dozen other localities on the banks of the same stream. The problem of the watershed should be considered as a whole, rather than by sections, and the major sources of pollution, when determined, should be dealt with first.

"In setting up requirements for the treatment of industrial wastes so as to avoid objectionable discharges into the streams of the state, a method both practicable and economical must be available. Many methods now proposed are costly—too costly for the industry to stand the expense—and if added to the cost of the finished product forces its costs to a point where it can not compete with others more favorably located."

"The policy of the State of Pennsylvania has been developed along two lines which interlock very intimately. First, with industries of a common type, when possible, we have endeavored to deal with the industry as a group, and in a cooperative manner, state and industry working together to solve the common problem. Second, we plan to clean up an entire watership which includes, of course, the problem of municipal sewage.

"The success attained so far leads us to believe that we are on the right track, and our efforts will continue along the lines indicated," said Dr. Appel.

Mahoning Valley Grange Notes

The Mahoning Valley Grangers met in their hall Tuesday evening, June 28, with Fred Knoll, master, presiding over the meeting.

After the business meeting a very interesting program was presented by the Lecturer Mrs. Jennie McClenahan, assisted by the Juvenile Matron, Mrs. George Hink and committee, Mae B. Houk and M. L. Ailey.

The program was as follows:

Recitation, A Girl's Mother—Betty Baird.

Recitation, A Strange Country—Wilda Simon.

Dialogue, An Ill Treated Flag—By Mary Byler and Dorothy Robinson.

Recitation, When Grandma Sings—Billy Baird.

Address, "George Washington"—By Attorney Clarence Patterson.

Early History of this Vicinity—By Mrs. Nellie Simonton.

Recollection of the Fourth of July—With Responses from Mr. J. W. Allison, Mrs. Mahala Bruce, Mr. L. O. Cover, Mrs. Jane Walters.

The address that Mr. Patterson gave on "George Washington" was wonderful. It brought out many incidents of Washington's life, rules written by him of which these were two hundred (in the group) then many things which he had written in his diary. Imagine a man like Washington keeping a diary day after day and year after year, making notations of the numerous happenings, also taking an inventory of his twenty-five hundred (2500) acre estate.

The early history of this vicinity given by Mrs. Simonton emphasizes many places of interest such as Quaker Falls, Big Run, Union, Mahoning and Pulaski Townships and New Castle giving the names of many of the old soldiers and where they enlisted.

If you want to know how the Fourth of July was celebrated fifty years ago ask some of your ancestors or older residents of Lawrence county, as the recollections are quite interesting, especially the ones we heard.

The New Castle Lime and Stone Company will present the program July 12.

The Mahoning Township Tax Payers League will meet July 6, at 8 p. m., at the Grange Hall. Attorney Clarence Patterson will be the speaker.

Miss Elma Robinson left Wedday evening for New York where she will attend Columbia University.

COUNTY DROPS OLD SLAYING INQUIRY

ERIE, Pa., July 1.—Officials today abandoned an investigation into the murder of Harvey Sexton, Crawford county tax collector, 11 years ago. District Attorney Mortimer E. Graham said no further county funds will be spent because Sexton's body was never found and therefore prosecution is impossible. The inquiry started after Graham received letters reporting that a Union City pool hall proprietor had confessed the murder on his death bed.

Edenburg

June Sherard of the North Side gave a very pleasing party Tuesday afternoon in honor of Helen Cronovich who leaves for Pittsburgh Wednesday morning. The main feature of the afternoon was a treasure hunt of which Helen received many treasures among which were many beautiful gifts. A delicious lunch was served. Helen was from the Chidren's Home in Pittsburgh. She has made her home in Edenburg, since she was four years old.

Joe Exposito had the misfortune of a sprained ankle when the young boys were at the bridge making parachute jumps with an umbrella. Joe was on top of the brige and jumped to the road when he lit he sprained his ankle.

Mrs. Adda Jones was an afternoon caller at the home of Mrs. Frank Hofmaster of the North Side Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hofmeister and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jones motored to Sharpsville Sunday afternoon.

GAIN IS SHOWN AT STEEL MILLS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 1—With the resumption of 12 sheet rolling mills yesterday at the Campbell plant of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company, the greatest number in several months, steel operations in Mahoning Valley took a definite spurt. It also was indicated yesterday that the Ohio works of the Carnegie Stee l Company would commence operations again July 6. This plant was closed last week. Mahoning Valley Steel Company at Niles continues too operate six sheet mills, while Republic Steel is operating some of its mills at Niles and Warren.

Asked how he liked his freedom from public responsibility, Mr. Dawes is quoted as saying "Darn well." Our theory is that the editor must have sent a lady reporter.—The Detroit News.

PRINCETON

EVENING PARTY

The ladies of the Princeton church were intertained informally, Friday evening in the home of Mrs. F. R. Weisz. The evening was spent in games and social chat. During the evening Mrs. Greenlee, the retiring treasurer was presented a gift, in token of the appreciation of her services while in office.

PICNIC

Erie Robber Is Given Sentence In Philadelphia

Five To Ten Year Term Given To Man For Holdup In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—Edward Zelenski of Erie, Pa., convicted of staging a holdup here on June 15 with Harry Boetteger of this city, today was sentenced to serve not less than five nor more than ten years in Eastern penitentiary, by Judge William A. McConnell of Beaver county, substituting in quarter sessions court here.

Boetteger received a suspended sentence.

Boetteger surrendered to police the day following the holdup when detectives recognized him fleeing from the scene. He was accused of rifling a man's pockets while Zelenski threatened the victim with a revolver.

Boetteger was not freed, however, for he was turned over to Judge Harry S. McDevitt for parole violation. Yesterday he testified in court here that he was used as a "stool pigeon" for liquor raiding police. Boetteger will remain in custody until Judge McDevitt's investigation is completed.

Illinois Bank Is Robbed Of $1,000

Two Unmasked Bandits Terrorize Bank Employes At Fox Lake, Illinois

(International News Service)

FOX LAKE, Ill., July 1.—Two unmasked bandits today terrorized three employes and six customers of the Fox Lake State Bank and escaped with $1,000 in cash.

A. H. Franzen, cashier, and two clerks, Helen Nagel and Minora O'Brien, were bound and forced to lie prone on the floor while one of the bandits held the customers at bay with drawn pistol.

After seizing the cash from an open drawer the robbers fled in an automobile.

Depression Fails To Hurt Marriages

Erie Court House Register Shows 424 Marriage Licenses In Month of June

Question Treatment Accorded Curtis As He Confessed Hoax

Defense Counsel Questions Treatment Of Curtis At Hands Of Officials

(International News Service)

FLEMINGTON, N. J., July 1.—The question of whether John Hughes Curtis, negotiator in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, confessed to his story being a hoax or whether he signed the document under duress was battled over today at the trial of the Norfolk shipbuilder on a charge of obstructing justice.

Police Inspector Harry Walsh of Jersey City, one of the officials in charge of the investigation into the crime, testified concerning the alleged admission by Curtis that his tale was false.

Defense counsel brought out that Curtis might have been affected by conditions at the time.

"The people he was put with, the surroundings in which he was living at the time, the pouring of water over him, his being put in the cellar—the fact that he had no sleep—all this should be brought out," said Ryman Herr of defense counsel.

DISCHARGE BANKRUPT.
(International News Service)

Blue Ridge Vets To Have Reunion

Eightieth Division Men To Gather On August 4-7 In Virginia

PITTSBURGH, July 2.—Another army of World War veterans is preparing for a march during August, but its objective will be to "Lift the blues from the Blue Ridge". It is headed for the famous Shenandoah Valley of Virginia.

Thirty thousand notices will go out this month to the former members of the 80th Blue Ridge Division, A. E. F., calling them to their national convention and reunion to be held in Harrisonburg, Va., August 4, 5, 6 and 7th.

The gathering will mark the 15th anniversary of the division's organization at camp Lee, Virginia, and will be the first national convention of this noted war-time division to be held in Virginia since 1926.

The annual convention of the Blue Ridgers have been staged in the States of Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia each year since the ending of the war. The personnel of the division was principally made up of men from these States, although practically every State in the Union furnished some of its soldiers.

Due to the 80th having trained at Camp Lee, Virginia, and this State having furnished two of its infantry regiments, the 317th and 318th, the Harrisonburg reunion is assuming the proportions of a homecoming celebration.

Russell L. Stultz of New Market, Va., is general chairman of the convention committee. Federal Judge John Paul, of Harrisonburg, Va., former regimental adjutant of the 315th Field Artillery, 80th Division, has been appointed honorary chairman. In additiin to a complete program of special entertainment events for three days, the veterans and their families will visit the famous natural caverns of the Shenanroah Valley, Civil War battlefields and journey to scenic points in Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains.

Grant Injunction Restraining Sale Of Oil Property

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 1.—An injunction restraining the sale of property of the Century Oil and Gas company, Blairsville, was granted creditors of the company today in federal court here.

Petitioning creditors, the Blairsville Savings and Trust company, Blairsville, Rutledge Equipment company, Pittsburgh, and Raymond G. Graff, Blairsville, opposed the sale and asked the court to restrain the Blairsville National Bank from taking such action.

Further hearing was set by Judge Nelson McVicar for July 8.

Ford City Youth Drowns In River

(International News Service)

KITTANNING, Pa., July 1.—The Allegheny river today claimed the life of John Kaczor, 16, of Ford City, near here.

While bathing in the river, the youth dove into the water and failed to rise.

First aid workers of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company recovered the body and applied resuscitation treatment for over two hours but failed to revive the youth.

Alleged "Spooks" Are Loose Bricks

Hole Left By Plumber Causes Fall Of Wall Under Register And Recorder's Office

"Spooks," that is what some of the court house officials said, when Register and Recorder, Jeannette Hutton, reported yesterday that she had heard strange noises, underneath the floor of her office.

"Spooks nothing," replied Miss Hutton, there is something wrong under here and I want you to find out what it is." Miss Hutton said that several times during the day, she had heard noises, as though bricks were falling down. The climax was a crash.

Janitor Clifford James, and Contractor Albert Weide, who is patching a floor in the sheriff's office, were finally convinced that it wasn't "spooks" that Miss Hutton heard and started an investigation.

They found that there is no basement under the floor of the room Miss Hutton occupies, but there is a brick wall. A pile of bricks, strewn about immediately under the door leading into Miss Hutton's office, explained the crash.

It was further found that a plumber had dug a hole in the wall in order to get at some pipes, and instead of building the bricks back into the hole had propped it up with some boards. The boards gave way and a portion of the wall fell.

It had been noticed that there was a slight sinking of the floor in the vicinity of the door for some time, but it seems that no investigation as to the cause had been made. The bricks that fell were a part of the partition wall, between the office and corridor.

Princess Buys Doll For Little Girl

(International News Service)

FLORENCE, Italy, July 1.—Maria of Savoia youngest daughter of the King and Queen of Italy, has made ten-year old Liliana Corbellini of this city happier than the proverbial queen by sending her through the local authorities $10 for dolls.

Liliana longed and longed for a doll in the store near her modest home in Via della Scalla but her father, a carpenter said he couldn't afford the $5 asked for it. So he secretly wrote a letter to the seventeen-year-old Princess, telling her troubles.

By return mail she got money for two dolls and now the Princess is being bombarded with letters from little girls asking for toys, clothes, and candies.

Stock Market Is Stronger

Record Number Of Expeditions Head For Pole

Wholesale Attack Of Mysteries Of Arctic Is Planned

By ERIC G. BOY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 1.—A wholesale attack on the mysteries of the Arctic regions will be made on August 1 with the beginning of the second International Polar year. A record number of 75 Polar expeditions, some of which are already under way, are scheduled to start their explorations simultaneously from various bases all around the North Pole.

The expeditions represent the first internationally organized attempt to gain further knowledge of Arctic conditions and their influence on the rest of the globe since the first Polar year ending 1883.

All expeditions will concentrate their efforts on careful scientific observations of meteorological aerological and magnetic conditions in the Northern Polar zone. Greenland is know for being Europe's "weather kitchen." Exact knowledge of weather conditions there will therefore be of paramount importance for daily weather forecasts, as well as for shipping and flying.

Soviet Russia alone will send out two expeditions, according to present arrangements, while the United States, Canada, Denmark, Sweden and Norway will share the rest. Each expedition is to erect as many observation stations as possible in order to gather the most possible data.

Germany, according to a statement by the Berlin Meteorological Institute, is prevented by a lack of funds from cooperating in the international polar year.

The Russian expeditions will be stationed along the North Siberian coast and on the various island groups. Experiments with automatic weather recording balloons, first made from the airship Graf Zeppelin on its Arctic Flight, will be tried again by Soviet scientists. These balloons carry a small short wave station and automatically report weather and air conditions as well as air pressure in higher regions.

Start Shipping Red Cross Flour

Present Supply Nearly Exhausted As Second Allotment Is Started On Way

Word was received today by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, that the order of 3,621 barrels of flour, which was requisitioned some time ago, is now being milled by F. W. Stock and Sons of Hillsdale, Mich., and that the first shipment of two cars will be started on its way today.

It is expected that the cars will arrive on next Tuesday and will be unloaded immediately as the present supply is nearly exhausted.

The Red Cross has secured the use of four baggage trucks which will be used to unload the flour from the Carnegie siding on South Jefferson street. The labor will be furnished by workers who are receiving aid from the Mayor's Relief Committee.

MUST GET RELIEF ORDERS SATURDAY

Those who are entitled to receive their orders on Monday from the Mayor's Relief Committee, can secure their weekly supply of groceries on Saturday, due to the fact that Monday is the Fourth and a holiday.

Orders should be secured before noon, as the Associated Charities and Red Cross offices are closed on Saturday afternoons during the summer months.

The Childhood And Education Of Moses

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Train up a child in the way he should go, and even when he is old he will not depart from it.—Prov. 22:6.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson for July 3 is Exodus 2: 1-10; Acts 7:20-22; the Golden Text being Prov. 22:6 "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it.")

Amram and Jochebed, parents of Moses, were as poor as the rest of the Hebrew slaves in Egypt, but they were rich in faith in their God, and bequeathed that faith to their children, and thereby enriched them beyond their masters and in Moses and Aaron and Miriam enriched all subsequent ages of men. "By faith Moses, when he was born was hid three months by his parents, because they saw he was a goodly child; and they were not afraid of the king's commandment."

The Ark in the Bulrushes

Thus it was their faith that emboldened them to defy the king's decree for the death of their baby boy by hiding him in a crude, home-made papyrus ark, waterproofed with slime and pitch, mingled with a mother's tears, and hidden away "in the flags at the river's brink." Miriam, the baby's older sister, stood watch over the precious treasure, and when Pharaoh's daughter, coming to bathe in the river, discovered the babe and understood the mother's scheme, she was touched with sympathy by its tears. The slave girl outwitted the princess by her clever suggestion, "Shall I go and call thee a nurse of the Hebrew women, that she may nurse the child for thee?"

So it was that the strange contract was made between the princess and Moses' own mother to nurse and care for the child until he would be old enough to be turned over to the servants of the palace.

"Take this child away and nurse it for me, and I will give thee thy wages." And the woman took the child and nursed it. And the child grew, and she brought him unto Pharaoh's daughter, and be became her son.

Was ever a servant more richly paid than Jochebed! For, more regularly than the wages she received from the princess, came her wages from her baby boy's smiles and her joy in his development as the righteous deception continued and months grew into years.

A Mother's Influence

So it was also that when the time came for Jochebed to surrender her own son to be the son of Pharaoh's daughter she has already mothered him so well that no Egyptian school or culture could obliterate the indelible impressions a faithful, godly mother had instilled in her child along with her mother's milk.

"Moses was instructed in all the wisdom of the Egyptians." But his mother had already had the first chance (as every mother may have) and she used it so well that her work could never be undone. There are no years like those first years for indelible impressions, and Jochebed knew it though she never heard the word "psychology".

So we read: "By faith Moses, when he was grown up, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter; choosing rather to share ill treatment with the people of God than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season; accounting the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures of Egypt."

God has given every mother the handicap of the plastic child nature in the formative years of infancy and the mother who does not avail herself of this advantage to bind her child to herself and her God betrays both her child and her God.

Fruit Crop Hurt By Poor Weather In New England

Late Frosts And Freezing Temperature Blight Prospects

(International News Service)

BOSTON, July 1— Unfavorable weather conditions including two cold snaps with freezing temperature, was expected to hamper New England's fruit crop, according to the New England crop reporting service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Moderate crops were looked for in apples and peaches, while pears were expected to show a slight increase over last year.

Reports from growers, said the report, indicated that the apple bloom was generally good to heavy although the date of full bloom was somewhat later than usual particularly in Southern New England.

The condition of apples on June 1 was placed at 83 per cent, compared with 75 per cent last year and 85 per cent for the ten year average.

Peaches were injured by frost and promise only a moderate crop at this time, said the report. Their condition forecasts a crop of 407,000 bushels compared with 430,000 bushels last year and 434,000 bushels the five year average.

Pears were figured at 139,000 bushels compared with 107,000 bushels last year and 195,000 bushels for the five year average.

Mormons Endorse 18th Amendment

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 1—Prohibition and the eighteenth amendment were recently assured of the unqualified and vigorous support of 125,000 young Mormons, members of the Young Men's and Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement associations. The endorsement was given at a meeting of 10,000 delegates of the associations in Salt Lake City. The associations are the junior organizations of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) church.

A resolution passed unanimously by the delegates declared:

"We stand for our prohibition laws and pledge our support to officers and candidates for office who respect these laws, who live in accordance with them and who strive for their enforcement."

Save 2½¢ PER GLASS on your Strawberry Jam

The cheapest, most delicious strawberries of the year are crowding the local markets. So read below how you can make jam quicker and cheaper than ever this year . . . and then go to your grocer at once.

BY Mrs. F. Bateman
ILLINOIS STATE JELLY CHAMPION

"I just hate to think of women still making jam and jelly the old-fashioned long-boil method. It's so costly. And so terribly tedious!

"I make all my prize-winning jellies and jams with Certo. And I would never think of doing it any other way.

"In the first place, Certo reduces boiling time for crushed strawberry jam, for instance, to one minute. And, of course, that is how it saves me so much money. For, with so little boiling needed, not one bit of the fruit juice has time to boil away. And as a result I usually get fully 5 more glasses from the same amount of fruit . . . and save as much as 2½¢ on every glass.

"Of course, this 1 minute of hard boiling also saves me lots of time, too. Indeed it takes me only 11 or 12 minutes from the time I put my fruit and sugar mixture on until the time my finished jam is cooling in the glasses.

"And with Certo you get much better tasting jam or jelly, too. Certainly the 37 prizes the State Fair Judges awarded my jams and jellies in the last two years testify to that!"

Mrs. Bateman is only one of the many State Fair jam and jelly prize winners who use Certo in making all their blue ribbon jams and jellies. Indeed, Certo gives such amazing results that today nearly half the jelly makers in America are using it. Why not try it yourself? It will save you lots of money!

Why don't you do as Mrs. Bateman suggests and order a supply of Certo today—with your strawberries and other jelly making supplies? You will be delighted at the money and time it will save you!

And the extra flavor it will give your jams and jellies, too . . . if you will simply follow carefully the Certo recipes that come in the booklet attached to every Certo bottle.

So don't delay. In a few days this marvelous crop of berries may be on the wane.

Get your bottle of Certo from your grocer's today. It is a product of General Foods Corporation.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 1—One good turn deserves another.

That was the theory practiced by the late Rebecca Williams, of Brownsville, who bequeathed a house, lot and the bulk of her estate to Martin C. Hess, Justice of the Peace.

"Justice Hess has been kinder to me than any of my relatives," she wrote in her will which left relatives only her personal property.

The Justice, the will explained, had transacted the woman's legal business and assisted her when she needed money and advice.

Ainey Plans To Answer Charges

Accused Public Service Chairman Will Answer Charges On July Eleventh

APPEARS GLAD OF OPPORTUNITY

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 1.—D. B. Ainey, chairman of the public service commission, will appear publicly before Governor Gifford Pinchot to answer charges that he received $150,000 from the late T. E. Mitten, of the Mitten utility interests in Philadelphia, over a period of six years.

The governor had transmitted to Ainey a copy of the charges made by A. A. Chapman, former Mitten employe, and suggested that he appear to answer them publicly. In his reply Ainey said in part:

"I will be very glad to appear before you with counsel on Monday, July 11, at two p. m., standard time, in the governor's reception room in the capitol, at which time I will answer the various charges made against me.

"I will leave no doubt in your mind or in the mind of the public as to the correctness and honesty of my position in this matter.

"In the meantime permit me to say that I vigorously deny these charges. They are baseless as well as unfounded. I have been annoyed by this man for more than a period of six months and am glad of having this opportunity of meeting you to answer these charges.

Thirsty Visitors Seeking Free Beer Are Turned Away

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., July 1.—Thousands of thirsty Seattleites were turned sadly away from the German cruiser Karlsruhe in one day while the vessel was in port here, after they had been lured to the vessel by stories that genuine Pilsner and Holsten beer was to be had aboard.

True, the beer was brought out—and perfectly legal, it was, too—on the day of the ship's arrival. Distinguished visitors on the reception committee were given drafts of the cool amber beverage. Mayor John F. Dore was taken to Commander Erwin Wassner's cabin and given champagne.

Duly printed in the local papers, the story brought the thirsty thousands to the boat next day, which was blistering hot. They were told the beer was locked up and wouldn't be unlocked again, either in Portland, Ore., or Philadelphia, the Karlsruhe's only other scheduled American stops.

Customs authorities explained that as the Karlsruhe was a German naval vessel, the American prohibition law did not govern aboard her, so long as no attempt was made to sell the beverage.

Many Requests For Light Shades

When council met today requests were reported to council of persons living on several North Hill streets for shades over street lights. Council instructed the city clerk to forward the requests to the Pennsylvania Power company.

According to Councilman D. O. Davies a large number of requests have been received by the company.

He said no charge has been made for placing of shades on lights but said he had been informed the practice is being abused.

Two Deadlocked According To Bids

Council met today in the municipal building and opened bids for the removal of a house, at 508 Pearson street, which the city ordered removed. Quite a few bids were received. Some bidders wanted the city to pay them for taking down the house. However, two offered to remove the house, keep the material and pay the city $6, each. They were Ralph Copper and B. C. Coates. The bids were referred to committee and either Coates or Copper will get the job.

Finnish Four-Masted Schooner And Anglo-American Tanker Collide Off Irish Coast

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 1.—The captain, the first and second officers, and eight members of the crew of the Finnish four-masted schooner Melbourne were drowned today off Fastnet, on the southern coast of Ireland, when the craft sank after a collision.

The Melbourne was in collision with the Anglo-American Tanker Seminole, which was only slightly damaged.

The Melbourne was enroute from Australia to Queenstown, Ireland.

P. H. C. Convention Sessions Ended

Many from this city attended the Protected Home Circle convention sessions held at the Fort Pitt Hotel in Pittsburgh, among who was Mrs. Lillie B. Jones, Past Grand Chaplain.

The affair was pronounced the finest ever held and was most brilliant in every detail. Six thousand attended, and there were three-thousand in the hotel at all times. Three hundred were initiated into the Inner Circle and the Junior work put on Wednesday was in charge of Mrs. Cora E. Phillips. An elaborate program was presented on this occasion.

This section was honored by having Mrs. Bell Kennedy named Grand Chaplain and David Tucker as Supreme Representative.

An impressive feature was the impersonating George Washington, his resemblance being a perfect likeness of the famous George.

MAN INJURED IN FALL DOWN STAIRS

C. E. Snyder, 124 Hillcrest avenue was badly, though not seriously injured Tuesday night, when he got up in the dark and was walking through the up-stairs hall of his home and stepped too near the top of the stairs.

He fell to the bottom of the stairs and when the family was aroused it was found he was suffering from cuts and bruises, his left ear being nearly but off by the sharp edge of the baluster.

Medical aid was summoned and it has not yet been ascertained whether any ribs were broken, as the muscles of his side are too sore for examination.

QUEEN ESTHERS ARE GOING HOME

Annual Conference At Camp East Brook Comes To Close Saturday

Queen Esther representatives from the entire Erie conference of Methodist churches, who have been spending the past week at the Y. W. C. A. camp at East Brook, are preparing to leave for their homes, in many different cities Saturday morning.

The Queen Esthers, numbering around a half hundred, have been enjoying their annual camp conference. Competent speakers and instructors have been in charge of the classes in Bible and Missionary topics, which have occupied the hours of each morning. Afternoons have been spent in recreation. Evenings have brought varied programs having reference to church work.

They will take their leave from the pretty Camp East Brook after breakfast in the morning.

Sacred Program Sunday Night

Interesting Program Will Be Presented In Absense of The Pastor

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Rees T. Williams, the senior singers of the First Congregational church will present a sacred song program Sunday evening in the church. Henry T. Jones will act as chairman of the meeting.

The program to be presented follows: Devotional exercises, Griff Thomas; soprano solo, Mrs. Claudia Nelson; tenor solo, James Taylor; contralto solo, Mrs. John M. Evans; address, Miss Harriet Thomas; soprano solo, Mrs. William M. Johns; baritone solo, Griff J. Jones; contralto solo, Miss Florrie Davies; reading, Mrs. Francis Cope; tenor solo, Thomas Hopkins.

Auto-Suggestion—There'd be fewer accidents if the train and the motor car didn't get to the crossing at the same time.

WARDROBE FOR OCEAN VOYAGE

An ocean voyage nowadays calls for practically the same clothes as those chosen for a holiday at the seaside, declares Lucien Lelong, fashion arbiter. An evening coat of light green flamisol (a new silk material) and trimmed with dark brown fur. It is worn over an evening gown of black satin.

HELLO EVERYBODY

Some merchandise can be bought today at cheaper prices than folks ever thought of. This is especially true of food products. Business is like a rocking boat, up on one side and down on the other. First, one side and then the other. We hope that times soon turn and the boat isn't allowed to sink.

Business looks like this farmer's problem. Can you figure it out? A farmer was asked if he was making any money. He answered, "Well you see my hired man works for me until I owe him so much I give him the farm for pay. Then I work for him until he owes me, so he just turns the farm back to me. No we ain't makin' any money, but we're livin'."

New Trial For Tom Mix Upheld

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—Justice Wm. I. Schaffer, of the Supreme Court today had filed an opinion, affirming the action of the Erie county court of common pleas in granting Tom Mix, moving picture star and vaudeville actor, a new trial in the suit brought against him by the Western Show Company.

The show company, as owner of the 101 Ranch Wild West Show sued Mix for breach of contract and obtained a $90,000 verdict from him. The lower court subsequently granted the actor a new trial on the question of damages and the show company carried its appeal to the state supreme court.

CHIMPANZEES HAVE PERFECT MANNERS

(International News Service)

NE WHAVEN, Conn., July 1.—The Chimpanzee monkeys at the Institution of Human Relations of Yale university have faultless table manners—unless they have no audience.

The monkeys are fed at a table, food on plates, their only utensils wooden spoons. These they manipulate with perfect ease and grace while they are being watched. Unaware of onlookers they become mischievous, using their spoons to snap food at one another, and throwing plates. A favorite trick is the sudden jerking away of the stool a brother chimpanzee expects to sit on.

REPORTER'S MARRIAGE EMPTIES CITY HALL

(International News Service)

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., July 1.—They almost had to close down the city hall the day James W. Connell, city hall reporter for the Middletown Press, took himself a wife.

Connell was married in New York at the "Little Church Around the Corner" to Ida May White of Portland.

Visitors to the city hall that day looked in vain for Mayor Frederick J. Bielefield, Chief of Police Carl Anderson, City Treasurer Charles Chafee, Tax Commissioner John J. Tranan, Charity Superintendent Raymond Wilcox, Public Works Superintendent Allen Schaefer and others of the official municipal family.

They were all a hundred miles away in New York watching Jim Connell take his marital vows.

Money In Church, Thieves Rob Home

(International News Service)

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., July 1.—Mrs. Casimir Kowalko knows how to combat the crime wave—take the bankroll to church.

She attended a lenten service and intuition told her to take $300 she had withdrawn from a bank to pay taxes. She obeyed, and returned to find that thieves had ransacked her home.

Mrs. Kowalko apparently had not heard of the woman who, a few weeks before, took her money laden pocketbook to church and discovered to her loss that the man kneeling in prayer beside her was a light-fingered pickpocket.

CLASS PICNICS

Burton Jones' Sunday School class of the Mahoning M. E. church enjoyed a wiener roast at Hickory creek, with the following members taking part—Albert Moss, James Johnston, Allan McClure, Junior Dripps, Donald Tindall, Kenneth Cole, Alvin Stimple and Oliver Kerr.

Swimming was an enjoyable pastime, followed by the wiener roast.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Mrs. Herman Rhodes, of West Madison avenue, is leaving for an extended stay in Portland, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Meyer, of West Madison avenue, are enroute today to Sparrow Lake, Canada, where they will spend July.

M. C. Morrissey of the corner of Ashland avenue and Cherry street, who left last Monday to visit his daughter at Alliance, O., is reported seriously ill in the Alliance hospital.

Mrs. Samuel Pascoe, of Buffalo, N. Y., is here for the week-end.

VISITS SISTER

Mrs. Margaret Brooks, of Steubenville, O., is making a stay with her sister, Mrs. Hazel Allen, Liberty street, over the Fourth of July.

BOYS HAVE PICNIC.

The alter boys and choir boys of St. Margaret's church, accompanied by Rev. Fr. A. P. Scholz, pastor, enjoyed an outing Wednesday afternoon at Flat Rock. Hours from 1 to 5 p. m. were kept and sports and swimming were amusements. A lunch was served later.

MANY GO FISHING.

This first day of bass season is being greeted by a great many New Castle fishermen, a large percentage of whom are from seventh ward. The Neshannock river seems to be one of the most popular among the bass fishermen.

NEW COURT HERE IS NOW IN USE

Finishing touches were put on the North Liberty street tennis court Thursday; it was rolled again, marked and a net erected. A group of tennis enthusiasts, with their racquets, spent a large part of the afternoon playing there.

The court was built just recently by a group of local young men.

A large representation of New Castle high school graduates from seventh ward will attend the alumni dinner and dance at the Cathedral this evening, according to the number who have made reservations.

Volant's Plant Producing Brick

Pearson Works Supplying Oil City, Polk Jobs; 30 Men Employed

Turning out a large tile order for Oil City's new Senior high school and another order of foundation block for an infirmary building at the Polk State school, Polk, Pa., the Pearson Brick company's plant at Volant today was making full headway with a force of 30 men who were called back recently after a layoff since last September.

The plant's operation resumed a few days ago, several days ahead of the date which had originally been set for its reopening.

The Pearson plant that borders the Neshannock creek a few miles north of the city line was also operating steadily today producing the final part of the huge order of brick material for the new northeastern federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

USE STOMACH PUMP ON DRUNKEN DRIVERS

(International News Service)

DETROIT, July 1.—Michigan has made use of the stomach pump in obtaining evidence for use in drunken driving cases, and its use proved so successful it will be used regularly in such cases when needed.

Jerry Fody, 37, of Flint, who is serving a 30-day sentence in Shiawassee county jail, Owosso, will attest to the effectiveness of the stomach pump as an evidence obtainer. It was used on him.

When arrested, Fody denied he had been drinking. Sheriff's Deputy M. C. Dickie didn't believe him, so he took Fody to a hospital and had the contents of his stomach pumped out. The matter was sent to Lansing for an analysis, and showed the presence of alcohol.

Confronted with the unfavorable analysis, Fody changed his plea to guilty and the 30-day sentence followed.

CLAIMS PROPERTY SHOULD BE REMOVED

Claire Stockman, chief of the fire department today sent a letter to D. O. Davies, director of public safety, which in turn was presented to council during a session at city hall. Stockman recommended the removal of a house at the rear of 516 Pearson street. He declared the property is in such a condition it should be removed. The recommendation was referred to Solicitor White for action.

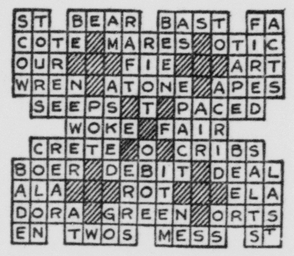
Answer to Previous Puzzle



June Weather Nearly Normal

Temperature And Precipitation Are Near Normal Average, Figures Show

Weather during June, in spite of the fact that the early part was abnormally dry, came close to the normal mark in the monthly average. The temperature was one-tenth of an inch below normal, while the precipitation was .60 inches under the normal mark.

The mean maximum temperature for the month was 81.9 degrees, the mean minimum, 53.3; and the mean average 69.1. The normal mean average for June is 69.2 degrees. In 1931, the temperature was 68.8 degrees or 3 below normal mark. The highest temperature recorded this year was 91 degrees on June 21, and the lowest was 36 degrees on June 8. The greatest daily range was 37 degrees on June 11. Days with .01 inches or more of precipitation during the month were 13, days clear, 20; days partly cloudy, four; and days cloudy, six.

The precipitation during the month was 3.84 inches, while the normal for June is 4.44 inches, a deficiency of .60 inches being shown. Last year, there was an excess of .42 inches.

The highest temperature recorded last year during June was 96 degrees on June 21.

SOLDIER BREAKS LEG WHILE TRYING TO SPIT

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 1.—Here is a question for insurance statisticians to figure out: How many times does a man have to expectorate before he breaks his leg in the attempt?

Col. Tommy Tompkins, 68, served forty-three years in the United States cavalry without sustaining an injury. But he is recovering now from a fractured leg he sustained when he attempted to expectorate out of the window.

"I had been smoking," the colonel said in explaining the freak accident, "and walked to the window to spit. Somehow, I lost my balance and fell through the window."

ENGLISH TO ATTEND MEETING

Council met today in the city building and instructed A. R. English, sealer of weights and inspector of measures to attend a meeting of sealers and inspectors at Butler, Pa., July 6. Problems affecting the duties of sealers and inspectors will be discussed.

Correct this sentence: "Oh, let me have the party, mother," said the flapper, "and I won't let you do one bit of the work."

COUNTY AUDITORS REPORT FOR THE YEAR OF 1931

To The Honorable, The Judges Of The Court Of Common Pleas Of Lawrence County:

The undersigned, the Controller and Auditor of Lawrence County, hereby respectfully submit a consolidated report of the several accounts of the County Treasurer, County Commissioners, Sheriff, Coroner, and other county offices for the year 1931.

Owing to the creation of the office of Controller, the Controller assumed his office December 7, 1931, and immediately thereupon the Auditors convened as required by law to audit and adjust the several accounts of said officers for the period beginning the first Monday of January 1930 and ending at the opening of business December 7, 1931. The Auditors have completed their duties and have prepared a report thereon.

Th Controller has conducted the affairs of his office since December 7, 1931, and has prepared a report for the period beginning December 7, 1931, and ending the first Monday of January, 1932.

The within report is a consolidation of the two reports above described.

Respectfully submitted,

R. C. McCASLIN, JR.,
Controller.

SCOTT KILDOO,
W. J. EROE, JR.,
Auditors.

City May Yet Use State Fund

Mayne Presents Statements Of Weingartner And Richards To Council

ASSERT CITY CAN HAVE USE OF FUND

Mayor Charles B. Mayne today told colleagues during a session of council at the city building that he had been informed by Senator George T. Weingartner and Representative Bart Richards that the approximate only cost to the city would be the setting and buying of curb and labor, if the city availed itself of the $69,000 allocated to the city from the general motor fund for improvement of highway continuations in the city.

He said the senator and representative from the city had visited his office and told him about the allocation of state monies to the city. "We have not had the right idea about this" the mayor explained to colleagues.

"That is a fund taken from the proceeds of the motor department and allocated to cities through which state highways run and once the money is returned that ends the matter."

The mayor said that Weingartner, Richards and also Representative McElwee had conferred with state highway engineers at Harrisburg relative to the allotment to the city.

He explained that recently council had notified the state by letter the city of New Castle had released the $69,000. "Regardless of our letter" said the mayor "I have been informed that the offer remains open.

"They notified the senator and representatives," according to the mayor that if East Washington street is widened between County Line and Ray streets, the State Highway department would take care of 10 feet on each side of the street car rails which would leave one or two feet on each side.

"It would be best if we left one foot next to the street car rails" the mayor suggested then added: "the only cost to the city would be the buying and resetting of necessary curb and the labor." In other words, the mayor said the state would pay everything except the cost surrounding curb.

Councilman Davies said that "this is hearsay".

The mayor said he would have Senator Weingartner and Represenative Richards confer with council.

Councilman Genkinger said that "my position is to take advantage of this $69,000 allotment. The last recommendation from the state contained a proposal for us to building a $22,000 sewer on the East side. That is ridiculous. The city can construct an 18 inch sewer in East Washington street to connect with the 30 inch sewer at County Line street. This would cost no more than $3,500.

"There is only one way to finance this. You must issue bonds." He referred to one point along East Washington street which the city would have to take care of. He said there are two properties affected. Both are on the south side of East Washington street between Florence avenue and Jackson park." They are situated on the bend in the street.

Councilman Davies persisted in declaring that the state officials should furnish blue prints and written data on what they would do and the mayor said he would arrange to have the senator confer informally with council this afternoon.

Councilman Hoyland said any plans from the state must be explicit and concrete and declared he is opposed to issuing any bonds for improving streets considered as state highways. Hoyland said that "the city is now paying $43,000, interest on bonds."

"You are not going to make any improvements out of the tax levy" responded Genkinger.

"We know our tax levy according to prices, is out of proportions" Hoyland maintained.

"If that is the case we might as well say: We will stand still for the next 10 years" Genkinger replied.

Genkinger maintained that if the $69,000, was used and a bond issue of $50,000 arranged, it would result in employment and much better feeling here and improvements would be made. The carrying charge on a $50,000 bond issue would be about $2,000, a year, Genkinger argued.

Mayor Mayne finally said he would have Senator Weingartner and Representative Richards meet council informally this afternoon.

London Stock Market Booms

Prices Climb Sharply In Exciting Session, Few Stocks Skyrocket

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 1.—Stimulated by the launching of the government's great war loan conversion scheme, stocks went on a rampage on the London exchange today and climbed sharply in an exciting session reminiscent of the boom days of 1928.

At the close gilt-edged issues were still skyrocketing, increases averaging more than five pounds on the day.

Start Movement For Disbanding Bonus Marchers

Ask Veterans' Bureau Officials To Find Jobs For Men At Home

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The government started a drive today to disband the 20,000 bonus marchers encamped here by instructing veterans' bureau officials to try to find them jobs in their home towns.

Walter W. Waters of Portland Ore., national commander of the army, met the move to disintegrate his forces by issuing a command for all the veterans to parade in front of the Capitol tomorrow.

Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, federal administrator of veterans' affairs, asked his Pittsburgh regional office to survey the situation there and determine whether employment is available for some of the marchers.

Instructions Out

It was understood he intends to send similar instructions to all his regional offices throughout the country, thus giving the encamped marchers an incentive to quit their siege here and return home.

Waters told his men to assemble in small groups before the Capitol in full strength and show the government their army is unified, orderly and determined to continue their fight for immediate payment of their adjusted service compensation certificates.

To Join Summer's Y. P. C. U. Events

Outing Crowd At Scout Camp Organizes For Season; 80 Attend Fete

Officers who will manage the summer devotional programs and social affairs of the Young People's Christian Union societies of the Highland and Second U. P. churches were elected at an outing participated in last night by young people from the First, Second and Highland U. P. churches at Scout Camp John M. Phillips.

DeWayne Glenn of the Second church, was named president of the unions: Miss Betty Houston, Highland, vice president; Ray Zeigler, Second, treasurer and Miss Eliza Jane Buchanan, Highland, secretary.

Joint programs will commence on Sunday evening.

Last night's camp event, embracing a wiener roast, marshmallow toast and general social time, was in charge of Miss Beulah James, Mrs. Ruth Hanna, Miss Frances Shaw, Henry Millison and Albert Dodds. Swimming was another diversion of the evening.

An impromptu program occurred after the election and discussion of business, presided over by retiring President Albert Dodds.

Utilities Seek To Avoid Paying Higher Postage

Suggest Use Of Unemployed Men In Delivery Of Monthly Statements

CAN'T INTERFERE WITH GOVERNMENT

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 1.—In order to avoid payment of the new high postage rates effective July 6, Public Utility corporations throughout the state are considering new methods for delivery of their monthly statements.

While the post office department has warned it will vigorously prosecute all companies and individuals who attempt to interfere with its legal monopoly to carry letters, the use of unemployed men for delivery of the monthly bills has been widely suggested.

Popular adoption of other than post office facilities for the delivery of invoices by utilities would result in a heavy slash in the receipts of many post offices. Continued loss of business might eventually result in their transfer to a lesser classification under the postal department, it has been pointed out.

Water Company Has Plan

The Scranton-Spring Brook Water Service Company was the first of the large utilities to discontinue use of the mails and utilize its own employes for the delivery of the monthly statements. Officials of the company said its 50,000 monthly bills can be delivered to consumers more economically by employes.

Harry F. Oves, Dauphin county tax collector, organized a staff of unemployed heads of families to deliver almost 100,000 tax bills in Harrisburg.

It would cost the county about $3,000 to mail the tax duplicates, and Oves found they could be delivered more economically while at the same time work was provided for the needy.

The post office department has pointed out that the postal laws do not permit anyone to compete with the government in carrying letters. A company may legally use its own employes to deliver the letters, however, but two or more companies can not use the same men or co-operatively engage the same messengers or delivery service without violating the law.

Cost Is Heavy

Each bill paid by mail with a check would result in a contribution of at least eight cents to the Federal Government under the new postal and bank check tariffs. If the consumer desires a receipt, an additional three cents would accrue to the government.

Postmasters throughout the country have been asked by W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general, to be on the alert for all violations of the law where companies or individuals plan to make deliveries of their letters on a contract or piece work basis using workers who are not their regular employes.

Postal laws provide a $500 fine and six months' jail sentence for interfering with the government monopoly. In addition, the carrier himself is subject to a fine of $50 for each letter delivered.

Roadside Food Guarded By State

State Department Of Health Watches Food Served To Public

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, June 29.—The advent of the summer season with its reopening of parks, camping places, roadside stands, and out door show activities brings additional care and responsibility to the Division of Restaurant Hygiene, State Department of Health, according to Mr. Howard M. Haines, Division Chief.

Stands of circuse and carnivals are carefully guarded by inspectors from Mr. Haines' Division, while the places where food and drink are distributed in parks, rural groves, wayside resorts and in the great number of Camps in the commonwealth, come in for their share of attention.

Beginning with July 1st a special drive will be made by the Restaurant Hygiene Division in the inspection of the places along the main traveled highways that sell food only in the summer season, and largely to the motor tourists who throng the roads at this time of the year.

If such places are located in the territory of a full time Health Officer employed by the State Department, violations discovered by the inspector are referred to him and it is his duty to see to it that conditions are improved and brought into conformity with the law.

All bakery products and food stuffs must be so covered as to thoroughly protect them from dust, dirt, flies and other vermin, while being offered for sale. All persons engaged in the handling or dispensing of food stuffs to the public, must have a health certificate, showing that they have passed a satisfactory examination, and that their handling of food is not inimical to the public health.

Complaints reaching the Division are investigated as promptly as possible Mr. Haines said, usually with satisfactory results.

✳ ELECTRIC EAR KNOCK CHART

The "ELECTRIC EAR" is the popular name for the new and amazingly accurate instruments which record sound in decibels. The "Electric Ear" was perfected by the Electrical Research Products, Inc. These same super-sensitive instruments were used by the Noise Abatement Commissions of America's leading cities.

This test conducted and computed by ELECTRICAL RESEARCH PRODUCTS, INC.

A DECIBEL is an engineering unit denoting volume and intensity of sound. In these tests, lowest decibel rating (new Tydol) indicates best anti-knock gasoline.

A HOT engine, a heavy load, a steep hill—there's the real test of anti-knock quality. Laboratory knock ratings are apt to go hay-wire under these real road conditions—as every motorist knows.

So the new Sound Meter—the "Electric Ear" of the Electrical Research engineers—made this amazing test on the road, the first of its kind.

It caught every knock in each of 17 gasolines—all non-ethyl gasolines, all bought in the open market from road-side stations. It registered that knock. Hour after hour, for 3 days, the "Electric Ear" checked and triple-checked every gasoline.

Same car. Same load. Same speed. Same grade . . . but what a difference in knock rating! Look at the decibel chart. You'll see where the New TYDOL stands—It heads the list in real anti-knock quality.

The chart doesn't show its speed and pick-up, its instant-starting, its super-power and extra mileage. But your first trial run will show them to you—plainly.

Try it today. Against any gasoline. And get extra-fare transportation at the regular price.

Mrs. Ina Porter of New Castle and Mr. and Mrs. George Griffith of Sharon were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hoagland on Sunday.

Mrs. Eva Bear and son William of Greenville and Mrs. Hamilton and sons of Pittsburgh were all day visitors at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. F. F. Yarian on Friday.

William Angell died at his home on the Mercer Road Saturday morning. Funeral services were held at his late home Monday afternoon in charge of Rev. Small of Mercer followed by interment in Hoagland cemetery. Mr. Angell is survived by his widow, Mrs. Grace Taylor Angell and one son William and a daughter Leah, and two sisters who live in Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. David Cosgrove, of Wampum, a bride and groom of recent date, were tendered a linen shower by the Social Hour Club at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. John Bowen Wednesday evening. On Saturday evening another group of friends tendered them a miscellaneous shower at the same place, when they were the recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewster and son Warren of Mount Jackson, were dinner guests and spent the evening at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Foltz on Friday.

Mrs. J. A. Dodds met with a serious acident Monday morning while out feeding chickens. She slipped and fell fracturing her hip. She was removed to the Mercer hospital where the bone was set.

Mrs. Jessie Osborne was entertained at dinner and spent the evening at the home of her daughter Mrs. Lyle Garner at Mercer on Saturday.

William Clingan returned to his home at New Castle Friday evening after spending several days with his cousin Clyde Bowen.

Mr. and Mrs. David Reynolds announce the birth of a daughter on Wednesday June 29.

Charles McKean left for Alabama Saturday where he will spend a month visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Veach and family and his mother of New Castle and Mrs. Meyer of Grove City, were visitors at the home of the latter's sister Mrs. Foltz Sunday.

Don't expect too much. There are so many ways of being a fool that you can't possibly miss all of them.

Jumping to a conclusion seems especially foolish if you do it from a hotel window.

Gibbons Discovers New Use For Convention Lights

By FLOYD GIBBONS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1932, by nternational News Service.)

STADIUM, CHICAGO, July 1.—Hello everybody.

Yes sir, boys and girls, that man electrified the Democratic national convention.

What a man!

No sir, I don't mean Roosevelt, nor Smith, nor Garner nor Ritchie.

I mean the man who put up those spotlights and the sounding boards and the microphones. Just another electrical contractor.

Now that's no joke—especially about those electric spotlights. They're bright as the sun. Why, I've been sweltering under those sun lamps all week. Thought they were just for the benefit of those camera boys who are around here thick as mosquitoes and twice as daring.

But that isn't what the lights are for at all. They are here to warm up the delegates when they get tired out.

You could notice that yesterday, especially during the nominations. The stadium would be cool-looking, even if it wasn't cool. Then a candidate would be nominated.

The sun lamp boy would hear a noise down below and turn on the sun light. Those big lights would blaze and hand-clapping and cheers and demonstrations would break out like dandelion blossoms under a spring sun.

But, just the minute the boy turned off those lights and things cooled down 50 or 60 degrees, the delegates would quiet down, too. And somebody would begin wig-wagging the operator and the sun would come up again and burn 'em into action.

Yes sir, you might call this a convention with all modern electrical appliances.

Then that electrical organ in the hall. Well, they couldn't have had those Roosevelt and Al Smith demonstrations yesterday without it. When that old instrument started to boom, a candidate's popularity would rise ten per cent per minute.

You know when J. M. Mack told about Governor Roosevelt's war record, and pointed out that he had made a trip across the Atlantic in a destroyer, it called for music. So, thanks to the genius of the electricians, the old organ boomed "Anchors Aweigh," and the convention went into a hornpipe.

And when Governor Ely of Massachusetts got up to nominate Al Smith, they carried a whole sack of sentimental songs up to the organist. All of those pieces conjured up fond memories of older days. All because that organ, with its electrical doodads, can croon louder than forty brass bands. All had bands, too, but in comparison to modern electrical sound makers, it was no more noise than a man playing a harmonica solo.

Don't see how they ever managed to get up enthusiasm in the old days of oil lamps and un-magnified lung power.

Maybe the modern electrical appliances aren't so romantic as the old time paraphernalia. But they're more Democratic.

The loud speakers make the voices of all orators equal.

Dr. Walter McClure To Close Sessions

Splendid Bible Conference At Slippery Rock Will Come To A Close Sunday Evening

The large auditorium of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church was filled last night to hear an inspiring message by Dr. Albert Hughes of Toronto, Canada, who has made a tremendous impression upon all who have heard him. He is graphic in his descriptions, lucid in his explanations and eloquent in his delivery. And exceptionally large number of ministers are being attracted by the Bible teaching of Dr. Hughes.

The 10:00 morning studies by Dr. Samuel Dodds in the epistle of the Hebrews have proved a blessing to the many who have heard them. In the afternoon, Rev. J. R. Laughner is giving unusually deep devotional studies which are drawing forth many words of commendation. Dr. Hughes in the second afternoon period is ministering to an ever increasing audience, to whom he is presenting "The Signs of Deity in the Gospel of John.

Special music included several beautiful duets by Rev. and Mrs. Ross Haverfield; and a duet by two boys, Lloyd and Thompson Callen, of New Castle.

There will be no morning session on Saturday. Rev. Laughner will speak at 2:00 and Dr. Hughes at 3:00 and again at 7:30 in the evening.

On Sunday, the closing day of the conference, Dr. Walter E. McClure will speak at 2:30 on: "I Believe in Jesus Christ." Dr. Hughes will speak at 3:30 and again at 7:30 in the evening.

Calvary Church Special Service

This evening special services preparatory to the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be held in the Calvary Presbyterian church, East New Castle, with Rev. L. W. Greenlee, pastor of the Mt. Hermon and Princeton Memorial Presbyterian churches as the guest preacher.

The Holy Communion service will be held Sunday morning at the regular church hour, and it is the desire of the pastor, Rev. R. J. Fredericks, and the session, that every member avail themselves to the preparatory opportunity.

Correct this sentence: "Your only trouble is hysteria," said the doctor. "But you have my sincere respect and sympathy."

Urges Safe Fourth On State Routes

HARRISBURG, July 1.—With the Fourth of July just a few days away, the Bureau of Highways Patrol and Safety is asking Pennsylvania motorists to make their Independence Day outing a safe one.

"Starting July 2, the highways will be jamed with traffic," an official announcement said. "Automobile deaths and accidents usually reach their peak on July 4. Don't leave your sense of caution and safety in the garage. Take it with you on your outing. Just because it is Independence Day is no reason for violating traffic rules and the courtesy of the road.

"Have a good time. Don't get hurt and don't hurt the other fellow. Make it a safe and sane Fourth on our highways."

Recalls Frost Of 73 Years Ago

SHARON, July 1.—Seventy-three years ago Wednesday morning was the occasion of the "big frost" which killed practically all living vegetation throughout the district, veteran residents recalled.

Byron DeForest, who lived at Littles Corners when the frost struck and is now a resident of Meadville, told about the frost today.

He said the crops were completely blackened and that folks who ventured out on the evening of June 28, 1859, "nearly froze to death" unless they wore an overcoat.

Wheat flour brought a price of $20 a barrel for some time after the frost, Mr. DeForest said.

Klein Hits Out Two Home Runs

Phillies Top Brooklyn And Take Fourth Place In National League

PIRATES UPSET CARDNALS 9-6

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service
Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 1.—Pirates, Phillies and Cardinals played the best ball in the National League in June. Pittsburgh jumped from fourth place to first, Philadelphia advanced from last to fourth, while Cincinnati flopped third place to the cellar.

In the American League the Yankees, Browns and Athletics set the pace.

Pittsburgh and the Cardinals kept the same pace up to yesterday when the Pirates gained the edge on the month's play by drubbing the champions, 9 to 6, for their seventh consecutive victory. Capt. Pie Traynor led the attack on the Cards with four hits.

Klein Hits Two

Two home runs apiece by Chuck Klein and Hall Lee helped the Phillies beat Brooklyn, 9 to 3, and take fourth place, passing St. Louis.

Guy Bush of the Cubs held Cincinnati to eight hits, winning 7 to 0 as his mates hit Red Lucas freely.

Scoring six runs in the fourth when they knocked Ed Brandt loose from his moorings, the Giants trimmed Boston, 9 to 5.

The Yankees feasted on the helpless Red Sox to the tune of 15 to 4, with Danny MacFayden holding his former mates in check.

Wes Ferrell of Cleveland chalked up his fourteenth victory, subduing Detroit 7 to 4.

The White Sox scored runs in the fourth inning against the Browns only to lose a 7 to 6 decision when Burns doubled and Goslin singled a few minutes later.

Italian A. C. To Have Fast Team

Managers Must Turn In Names

All Player Lists In Twilight League For Second Half Due Saturday

Twilight League managers have been instructed by President Tully Caiazza to have their player list for the second half of the season at The News Office by Saturday evening. Names of all players who will play in the second half must be recorded with Caiazza.

Each team is allowed 16 men. No players can be signed after Saturday. The league just concluded a very successful first half and are going to have an even better league the second half. All of the teams have added new material and will give Mahoning A. A. and Hillsville the first half winners a tough battle for the honors.

Pump Stationers Defeat Imperials

Pump Station mushball team nosed out the Imperials 13 to 12 in a mushball game at the Paul Street Field last night. The Pump Stationers won the game in the ninth inning by shoving over a run. Gresham featured the game with a home run. C. Greene had two triples, and some heavy hitting was done by L. Martin, Gresham, Wyman, J. Greene, Llewellyn and Urbin. Both teams hit the ball hard, and made a lot of errors.

Track Stars Are Ready For Meet

Eastern College Track Stars Will Compete Against Californians For Honors

(International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal., July 1—A bevy of 228 athletes from the eastern landscape loped into Edward Stadium of the University of California here today prepared to fight to the limit of their courage and ability to toss back the onslaught of the California legions.

This 56th annual intercollegiate track and field championship which already is conceded to University of Southern California because of the greatness and numerical strength of its team, may not be such a romp as U. S. C. anticipate.

"Goodness, gracious: and who has been timing and measuring these birds at work."

Most of the eastern coaches are a bit skeptical about the amazing exploits of the Californians especially on the track, and although they haven't a real star in the 100, 220, 440 or 880 to test the satellites of the Pacific slope, they will be doing some private clocking when the California fliers are buzzing through the ether.

Mahoning Wins From Cloverleaf

Mahoning A. A. won 10 to 2 from Cloverleaf in a National division, Twilight games yesterday on the Sampson street field. Rotunno and Brown hit triples. Brown added a double and single to his column of safe blows. S. Domenic banged a quartet of hits off Sam Grey who was hit freely. F. Domenic allowed seven hits but bore down in the pinches. HEALTH HINTS FOR AMATEUR ATHLETES

By JAS. J. CORBETT
Former Heavyweight Champion Of The World

These articles have been prepared by Mr. Corbett in cooperation with the staff of the Department of Health of the City of New York and are being released for the free use of newspapers throughout the country in the interest of the health of boys and girls.

FRESH AIR AND SUNSHINE

You cannot get too much fresh air and should make it a point to pass as much of your time in the open as possible. Always breathe deeply; always breathe through your nose, if you want to get the full benefit of the outdoors.

Treat yourself to a sunbath every day, but avoid the sun in summer when it is high, that is, between noon and three o'clock. If possible don a pair of trunks and take a real sunbath frequently on the roof of your home, at the seashore or in the country.

But be careful. Do not get sunburned; it not only is painful but dangerous. The first day expose only part of the body and make your sunbath last only a few minutes; the next day expose a little more and make it five minues and each day increase the amount exposed until your body has become thoroughly tanned—then you need not fear the sun rays.

Sunbaths are highly beneficial. They tone up the system and aid the body in many ways. But avoid sunburn.

ORRS BEAT REGANS

Orrs won from Regans, 13 to 5, Thursday at Dean park baseball field. Orrs outhit the Regans, who made three to one errors for the Orrs. Whiteman and Regan hurled for Regans and Withrow hurled for Orrs.

Bass And Pike Season Opens

Fishermen Allowed To Have 50 Live Bait In Possession

Season opened today in Pennsylvania for all types of bass, pike, perch, Susquehanna salmon, pickerel and muscallonge and reports from Harrisburg say that stream conditions are auspicious for a good opening although veteran fishermen here say local stream conditions are not good for bass catching.

The creel limits and legal sizes of the various species follow:

Black bass, large or small-mouthed bass, not less than nine inches, creel limit 10 a day; other types bass, not less than six inches, creel limit 15; pike, perch and Susquehanna salmon not less than 12 inches, creel limit 10; pickerel, not less than 12 inches, creel limit 15; and muscallonge or western and northern picke, not less than 22 inches, creel limit three.

Fishermen are allowed to have 50 live bait in their possession at any one time and may either catch bait or purchase it.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Umpires who have been officiating in the Lawrence County league will doff their chest protectors, shin guards and masks after Saturday's games and the league officials will seek new arbiters unless there is a change in front on the part of one or the other. Umpires want $2, for each game and the circuit leaders claim clubs can stand to pay no more than $1.50.

Once upon a time, or in the days when the Lawrence County loop was drawing big crowds and the fans were wont to toss fairly good sized money into the collection hat, the umpires received $3.00, a game. When General Depression put in an appearance the pay was cut to $1.50.

The Twilight circuit pays only $1.50, but according to the umpires they consider that circuit a less difficult loop than the Lawrence county circuit in which to work. They point out that they take chances of being hit and injured everytime they arbitrate. League officers say the umps' should 'go along" and take the best that the league clubs can pay.

It is not a question that cannot be settled without calling out the State Police. In fact we do not believe that it will be necessary to have Mayor Charles Mayne delegate his police force to keep pickets walking.

The question can be settled in a sportsmanlike way if both sides will agree to toss a coin (one without two heads and without two tails) into the air. If it comes down "heads," they would win if the coin fell "tails" they wouldn't if they wager that way.

Dizzy Dean of the Cards jumped from a bed where he was confined with illness, sent a telegram to Manager Gabby Street that he would "stop the Pirates," then hopped a train and is now in Pittsburgh awaiting to be sent to the mound to pitch against the Pirates.

Alfred Sargent turned in a 69 yes-terday that put him ahead of a tightly bunched field in the opening 18 hole skirmish for the Western Open championship being staged at Cleveland. Harry Cooper, Ed. Dudley, defending champ, Waldo Crowder and Al Zimmerman are trailing Sargent who's father won the national open in 1909.

Nate Lewis has secured the ser-vices of Max Schmeling for a bout in Chicago in September, he told Mrs. Levy, sister manager of Battling Levinsky. The latter will be Max's foe.

Tommy Loughran who beat Steve Hamas, has been suspended by the Pennsylvania Athletic commission for his refusal to enter the ring with Hamas until Tommy Reilly was withdrawn as the referee. The commission gave Reilly a vote of confidence.

All Stars Force Elder To Bow

West Side All-Stars defeated the Elder A. C., 7 to 6, on Elder's field Thursday. All-Stars outhit the Elder A. C. Elders made four errors, while the Stars committed two. Lamn allowed 10 hits and McIntyre eight.

Church Managers To Meet Saturday

Henry MacNicholas, physical director of the "Y" today announced an important meeting of all of the managers of the various teams in the New Castle Church mushball league for Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the "Y." This is one of the most important sessions of the year and all managers must attend.

Franchises for the second half of the season will be renewed at this meeting, also any teams desiring to enter or drop out of the league are asked to send their representatives.

Legal Size Bass Vary In Types Of Bass That's Caught

O. E. Koonse, Well Known Sportsman, Gives Interesting Information

Due to the fact that the size of bass, now in season, that it is legal to retain, varies, with certain types or species and that there had been some confusion in regard to which figures apply to certain types, O. E. Koonse, well known sportsman of the city, today made known some of the facts and figures relative to the matter, in order that all fishermen may be able to enjoy the sport without unwittingly throwing themselves open to fines, by violations that are unintentional.

Bass came in today as did muscalonge, pickerel, salmon, in fact all types of fish are now legal prey for the licensed fisherman in the state of Pennsylvania. Trout, which have been in season for some weeks, will remain in season a short time longer.

In Rock Bass and also what is known as Calico or Strawberry Bass according to Mr. Koonse, the legal length of the fish that may be retained is six inches.

In Black Bass, of which there are several different types, such as the small mouth and the large mouth, also the Oswego or Green bass, the legal length of a fish that may be retained in nine inches.

Legal length of muscalonge is 22 inches, pickerel 12 inches and salmon 12 inches.

Cascade A. C. Tops E. N. C. Merchants

Cascade A. C. trimmed the East New Castle Merchants 8 to 7 in a baseball game at the Cascade Field last evening. Miller pitched a fine game for the Cascades allowing but seven hits and fanning two men. Vaughn featured with a home run. Miller, Waddington, Weir, Martin, Miller, Bluedorn and Boston had extra base hits. The Merchants rallied in the seventh but fell short one run of tying the count.

Little Activity In Stock Market

Leading Stocks In Extremely Narrow Range During Trading

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 1.—The stock market continued in the doldrums today, with activity at as low a rate as had been seen in the dull sessions of the last two weeks.

National Biscuit was again heavily sold and went through its old low. Sympathetic selling broke out in Corn Products, which came within a fraction of its bear market low. Woolworth was under pressure and lost more than a point.

Leading stocks hovered in an extremely narrow range. Auburn gained more than a point in the early dealings but slipped later.

Fractional changes were the rule in pivotal issues like U. S. Steel and American Telephone. American Can was firm while Allied Chemical improved after an early dip. Rails were irregular with Atchison better and Union Pacific equalling its old low. Strength in Foreign Obligations was outstanding in the bond market. Commodities were steady.

FIREMEN BATTLE BIG ELLWOOD CITY FIRE FOR FIVE HOURS ON THURSDAY AFTEROON

Subdue Blaze After $5,000 Damage Has Been Done To Buildings

NEW CASTLE SENDS FIRE ENGINE HERE

Fire For Time Threatened To Spread Through Big Lumber Plant

ELLWOOD CITY, July 1—Only the finest kind of co-operation between fire departments and heroic effort upon the part of the firemen saved Ellwood City from what might have been its biggest fire loss in history Thursday afternoon.

Starting in the barn of Joseph McCandless rear of Fourth street the blaze destroyed that building and its contents, licked up an adjoining shed, owned by Patton and Campbell and was halted after some damage to the Circle Lumber Company plant. The total loss will approximate $5,000, but the potential loss at one o'clock when the fire started looked to be many times that.

The origin of the fire is not definitely established. It was discovered in the barn of Mr. McCandless and the Ellwood fire department notified. When the department arrived the barn was beyond saving, and the shed adjoining was afire. Just beyond these buildings lies the Circle Lumber Company plant with $20,000 worth of stock, buildings of the company and beyond that homes and small business houses.

Ask Aid

Realizing the seriousness of the situation and the fact that the fire was beyond the ability of the Ellwood department to extinguish, Chief H. T. Plante called for the Shelby Tube Works fire department and the New Castle department. Both of them responded in record time, the New Castle pumper getting to the scene in fourteen minutes.

When the New Castle department arrived the fire was making headway rapidly. A slight breeze was carrying the flaming embers towards the lumber plant, billows of smoke, hanging low made the work of the firemen difficult, and the outlook seemed to indicate a destructive conflagration.

Swinging into action the New Castle pumper was located across the Baltimore and Ohio tracks, with the hose under the rail and carried on up to the top of a building nearby. From here they had a commanding position to play the water into the middle of the blaze.

The Ellwood and Shelby departments were flanked on two other sides of the blaze and with the water playing from three directions the firemen gradually made headway. Charles Orr, Robert Henry and Kenneth Lockhart worked around to the rear of the blazing building and did yoeman work in getting at the base of the blaze but were fir ally overcome by smoke and heat and carried away.

Fight For Six Hours

For an hour it was a question whether the Fire Demon would not resist the efforts of the departments to halt him in his rush. Gradually the flames were brought under control and by three o'clock it was certain that the damage would not spread beyond the outer edge of the Circle Lumber plant.

To the heat of the fire and the smoke billowing out was added the heat of the day and the six hour fight found the firemen all but exhausted. Fortunately what breeze had sprung up died away and the possibility of sparks and burning embers being carried into the lumber piles was avoided.

The actual loss will probably be around $5500, $3500 of this being the barn and contents owned by Joseph McCandless, Patton and Campbell loss about $1500, and the Circle Lumber Company $500.

Listed among the losses in the McCandless barn were a stock of hay and grain, two horses, two pigs and a number of chickens.

Climbing to the top of buildings, piles of lumber along the track and swarming the streets on Fourth and in the Circle, thousands of people witnessed the fire from every vantage point.

It was not more than fifteen minutes before the chief of police Morrison and officers, were stationed at dangerous points, holding back the crowds, which were only and finally kept in a distance when the space, about the burning building was roped off, giving the firemen full sway in which to work.

Visitation Day At Orphanage

ELLWOOD CITY, July 1—A great many articles of wearing apparel, canned and fresh fruits and vegetables, cakes and candies found their way to the Children's Orphanage in Zelienople yesterday.

It was visitation and donation day and at this time a number of the Ellwood families of the Trinity Lutheran church brought their donation to the church while others drove to the orphanage and enjoyed the pleasure of seeing their gifts appreciated.

Better Business Shown By Building

ELLWOOD CITY, July 1.—The grouch who sits on the curb and discusses these depressing times should get a load of what one of our local business men has discovered, through his disgust with the mental attitude of his friends here about.

"People are building," he said. "Not only are they building, but they are remodelling their homes and other homes that they own. Even their stores are coming in for a share of this remodelling.

"Several weeks ago I took a trip up Cleveland way and nary a building was being erected. One week later I took a trip over that same route and I counted 20 buildings on the way to completion. They were business buildings, most of them, some were homes. Not fine big homes, but substantial looking."

With this man to give the tip, it set the news writer on an idea for a building story. Upon investigation she has learned that A. LeRoy and family have just moved into their newly finished cottage on Wiley Hill. A. P. Hazen is remodelling the store in Frisco.

A new office is being erected in the Logan hardware store on Lawrence avenue. Lee Morrison is building a cottage in Wurtemburg Heights to which he will soon take his family, now residing in Wurtemburg.

Lee Kimes of Wayne avenue is building a cottage at the VanGorder mills which will soon be ready for occupancy. The double house on Seventh street owned by Isadore Kraus is being completely renovated and painted throughout. The former Manhattan store is being renovated and will be Thad Young's drug store. This is just a small list of things on the upgrade in Ellwood.

Alfera-Spaniel Wedding Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, July 1—Miss Lillian, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Spaniel of Fourteenth street was married to Donald Alfera, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Alfera, New Castle. The ceremony took place in the Roman Catholic church Thursday at 9 o'clock with Rev. Father R. D. Wilkey officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by Thomas Cubellis who attended the groom. She was beautifully gowned in ivory satin designed with close fitting bodice and long sleeves puffed to the elbow. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lillies.

The gown worn by Miss Christine Carbo, maid of honr, was yellow lace, offset with a smart picture hat of maline in blending shade. Her bouquet was talisman and tea roses.

The wedding breakfast was served immediately after the ceremony at the Spaniel home. Covers were laid for thirty five. Following the motor trip to Cleveland and Detroit, the young couple will reside temporarily with the bride's mother.

Mrs. Alfera is a graduate of the Ellwood high school and for a number of years has been in the office of T. A. E. MacConaghy, the tax collector.

Drive Started On Tax Evaders

ELLWOOD CITY, July 1.—Yesterday an army of assistant tax collectors started out, each one assigned by Tax Collector T. A. E. MacConaghy to a section where a bulk of the listed non-tax payers live. This is the beginning of an intensive drive for taxes, made necessary by those who continually evade taxes, as shown by the collector at the board of education meeting Tuesday night.

It was agreed at the meeting of assistants that they are to concentrate on delinquent per capita taxes, leaving the tax collector free to work on delinquent real estate taxes.

He pointed out to his aides that the school board has made obligatory upon him to employ every means within the law to collect from the evaders. Arrangements can no longer be made for paying 1931 taxes on the installment plan as they become delinquent this month.

Several Hundred At Donation Day

Program At Orphans Home At Zelienople On Thursday Afternoon

ZELIENOPLE, July 1.—Several hundred people spent Thursday at the children's orphans home and farm school donation and visiting day. This was the annual donation day, and the 78th year of the home here. People began to arrive early in the forenoon and were from many places and towns in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio. Some enjoyed a picnic dinner on the fine lawn of the home, while many enjoyed their meals in the school building, they being served by the ladies of the local Lutheran churches. The proceeds of the meals, the food being donated, is given to the home.

The program began at 2:30 in the afternoon and the speaker of the afteroon was Rev. A. J. Holl, D. D., pastor of the First Lutheran church, Pittsburgh. He made an excellent address, praising those who are in charge of the home. The orphans home band, under the direction of C. C. Stover, played during the day, and many times during the afternoon. A pageant was given, "Under the Stars and Stripes", by the children of the home. The costumes they wore were made by them and they were very attractive, in the nation's colors. The pageant was directed by Mrs. William Meeder, a teacher in the school, and the Misses Lydia and Ruth White, daughters of Rev. and Mrs. White, who have charge of the home.

There are 140 children at the home at this time, from small babies to children grown up. A nursery was added more than a year ago, where babies can be cared for also. Rev. and Mrs. C. W. White have charge of the home and have had for the past 23 years. Rev. White was reared at the home, educated for a Lutheran minister after leaving there and returned after that to become superintendent. They are very capable workers, and the home is excellently equipped and a fine place for children. The grounds and farm at this time are beautiful. At this time the buildings are all open for inspection, and were inspected by hundreds of people on Thursday. Many who were reared at the home return for a visit at this time. This is always an interesting time for the children and one looked forward to by them.

MISS MEEDER IS BACK FROM TRIP

ZELIENOPLE, July 1.—Miss Leola Meeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Meeder of High street has returned from Washington, D. C., where she spent about ten days. Miss Meeder is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Ellwood City and was in Washington in the interests of that company.

Miss Meeder visited the Bonus camp while there, also the White House and spent a very pleasant and profitable time.

THURSDAY BRIDGE AT HABART HOME

ELLWOOD CITY, July 1—Mrs. Herbert Habart was charming hostess to the Thursday evening bridge club at her home on the New Castle-Ellwood highway last night.

Two tables of bridge were in play with favors for high score going to Mrs. Paul Moon and Mrs. Fred Wood.

The following participated: Mary Elizabeth Hazen, Elwin Hazen, Clair Thompson, E. E. Hazen, Lillian and Luella Jones, Margaret Nye, Halcyon Sartwell, Mary Hazen, F. N. Smith, Jean Kingstown and J. N. Miller.

R. Q. CLUB

ELLWOOD CITY, July 1.— Mrs. Stella Mook of First avenue entertained the R. Q. club in her home all day yesterday. At noon a tureen dinner was served after which "500" was played. Awards for high score went to Mrs. Leonard Ngel and Mrs. Myrtle Moon. Mrs. Phillip Morrow of March street will entertain the club in three weeks.

Koppel

An important special meeting of the Community Welfare club was held at the American Legion Hall Wednesday evening. All representatives were urged to attend as well as all others interested in the work. This may be the final meeting held until early fall. It was decided that Thursday and Friday afternoons from two until four o'clock the distribution of the flour for the needy would be made. Those eligible to receive this flour were families of three or over with the father or the sole support working only two days or less a week. Mrs. Wilson Fowkes was appointed chairman of the flour committee.

Harold Mathieson, Jr., is spending a few weeks vacation at the home of his uncle at Butler.

Miss Ruth Shaner left Wednesday evening for Pittsburgh where she is planning to visit with relatives for an indefinite length of time.

Junior and Robert Sobeck are at New Brighton where they will spend a short vacation with their aunt.

Mrs. William Hall is recuperating from a recent illness that had confined her to her home for the past few days. Mrs. Leonard McClain, a daughter, of Nagley, Ohio, has been attending her.

Hoover Signs But Hits Economy Bill

Charges Measure Will Fall Heavily On Shoulders Of U. S. Workers

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The national economy bill was placed on the statute books Thursday as a large portion of the federal government faced the prospect of awakening penniless today to the dawn of a new fiscal year with only emergency funds and promises available to speed its work.

Appropriation bills totaling billions of dollars languished last night in the legislative mill that runs between Capitol Hill and President Hoover's signature at the White House. Administration leaders, however, expressed little concern.

The chief executive completed action upon two financial bills, one, the economy measure, estimated to save $150,000,000 in the next fiscal year.

Hoover Approval Limited

The president said he approved the measure "with but limited satisfaction." In effect, it places the government on a five-day-week and falls most heavily on the shoulders of federal workers.

The $319,000,000 Navy Department supply bill also was signed.

Despite the status of the appropriation measures to provide money for government departments next year, the work of the government will go on.

Enactment of the bills will set the keynote for government activity during the year—economy—since every measure has been sheared sharply. Heavily reduced expenditures will be necessary along with the new $1,118,500,000 revenue law to counteract a deficit listed on June 28 as $2,851,750,114.

Plan Payless Furloughs

Under the economy bill, a system of 30-day payless furloughs will be instituted for federal employes, with salary slashes ranging from 8.3 to 20 per cent for those not thus affected. There is also a prohibition against filling vacancies, temporary suspension of overtime pay, compulsory retirement for age and suspension of automatic increases in salaries.

The president, in signing it, asserted it would work unnecessary hardships on government workers and declared it fell far short of the savings expected. Although he strongly favored the five-day week principle, he promised to do all available to alleviate other hardships caused to workers.

The president's statement follows:

"I have signed the economy bill with but limited satisfaction.

"First it falls far short of the economies proposed by the cabinet and other executive officers of the government; many items of their proposals which were in turn recommended by committees on economy of the two houses failed of passage. Also the bill is so framed as to render abolition or consolidation of the most consequential commissions and bureaus impossible of consummation until some months after the next session of Congress.

"Second, it imposes unnecessary hardships on government employes in minor matters of little consequence economically. Some of these hardships should be remedied at the next session of Congress. I believe we can administratively alleviate some of these difficulties and hardships. Every effort will be made to do so."

Get Reward For Bandits' Capture

BEAVER FALLS, July 1.—According to reports the local police officials have received a bank draft for $500, as a reward for the capture and conviction of the men who held up and robbed the Noble County National Bank in Caldwell, Ohio, some weeks ago.

The insurance company which posted the reward is alleged to have recommended that Mayor C. W. Calvin, Alderman D. D. Garvin, Police Chief Fred R. Shaner and Officer Elmer Lancaster each receive $100 of the reward money for their part in the arrest and conviction of the bandits. It also is said to recommend $50 to be given to Charles Conti of Beaver Falls and a Koppel youth for their part in the capture.

ROAMING

With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

This lad who wrote that ballad, "Life Is Just a Bowl of Cherries," never had to pick the pesky things. After a whirl at the sport last night I'm convinced that what this country needs is bigger cherries and lower branches.

By the time you have a quart picked you have juice in your eyes and down your sleeve, and after an hour or so collecting future cherry pies, you begin thinking what a nice fruit the pumpkin is.

A good place to plant a cherry orchard would be along a cliff where you could sit on the top and pick the cherries off. Putting a ladder up against those slim twigs is daring the insurance company to pay off, and every time a twig cracks you wonder whether your ankle will be next.

Got a couple of post cards from widely diverging points yesterday. One came from Seattle, Wash. where Bill Caldwell has been learning some new Rotary songs, and the other from Dave Rees and his wife who are visiting the British Isles. Their card came from Bangor, County Down, Ireland.

The Irish card is particularly appealing. It shows a swimming pool walled off right at the sea side and all that water in one flock seems to be an invitation.

Which reminds me that the Fourth of July holiday starts Saturday if that means anything to you. It means more than just the holiday it means the middle of the summer season, the time when the big leagues show their probable pennant winners, the time when you can go out and yell yourself hoarse for the annual speaker who takes fifteen minutes after the usual "and in conclusion."

Many people will be headed towards Uniontown this Fourth, to see the dedication of the replica of old Fort Necessity. Back in the days when King George the Third was the head man for both sides of the Atlantic, or was it George 3, another George was getting a few practice rounds of soldiering for the days when he would have a real fight on his hands. There are still some folks who think Washington built Fort Necessity because he couldn't take the Uniontown hill on high and built the fort to overhaul his motors.

Those gardens that ate up so much work in the spring days are now showing the result of the labor. Take a ride out Cascade street between Butler and Washington some evening if you want to see something, or ride down around Montgomery Avenue. There should be a peck of beans for every man, woman and child in the country this year and as for roasting ears, they'll probably be a glut on the market.

Even the policemen are working gardens. For the first time in his life Officer H. E. Richards, (no kin to the colyum) has a garden this year and is already eating string beans. Constituting a record for early beans it would seem.

In planting his lettuce this spring he couldn't see that one of those little packages of seed would make much of a showing and he planted several. If he ever ate all the lettuce he has in the garden, he's have an overplus of Vitamin Q or X or whatever vitamin it is that makes its home in the lettuce.

Policemen don't always know what gardening or farming are all about. There was that time that Dave Nelson and Darcy Harper went out into the country to get a load of horseradish. The hunting was fine and in an hour or so they had the back of the car loaded with the pungent delicacy.

On their way into town they stopped at a farmhouse to get a drink of water, and in the course of the conversation asked the farmer's wife what she thought of their fine load of horseradish. The lady replied that it was quite a load, but not of horseradish. It was an elegant load of wild mustard which at current prices is worth about eight cents an acre, if you bring your own hoe.

Mrs. Dan Heasley was a visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Williamson, of the Pulaski road, Wednesday.

Mis Simplicity
(Pat. Applied For)
So simple... and yet this unique garment contours the figure to lovelier lines. The clever diagonal "cross-pull" of the straps (that button in back) scientifically uplift the bust to a natural curve, flattens the diaphragm and abdomen, slenderizes the waistline and firmly persuades the body to correct posture.

New Castle Cub Scouts Winners

Even Up With Ellwood Cubs At Camp John M. Phillips

Thursday was New Castle's winning day in the way of mushball for the cubs at Camp Phillips. Granted a return game by the previously winning Ellwood City team the cubs from New Castle sought, fought and got revenge by a score of 21-15. Jim Higgins, New Castle, was the game's outstanding player with five runs, a three-base hit and striking out six opponents from the pitcher's box.

The Lions hut took the inspection banner away from Volant hut by the margin of one point, 95 to 94 per cent, just the reverse of Wednesday, same huts, same score, same friendly competition.

During instruction period the 11-year-old boys were taught knot tying by Bob Moore in preparation for their tenderfoot scout test. Clyde McCready's nature study class was busy again today collecting specimens. Ted Knauff spied a ground squirrel and after almost squeezing into the hole where it disappeared gave up for lack of a shoe horn.

In the afternoon the cubs continued the Indian games started Wednesday. Thursday's game ended with Jim Higgins and Bud Turner leading the Indians to a 23-0 victory over the soldiers.

After the mushball game the boys gathered round the campfire and were led in singing by Sandy Howard, after which LeRoy Norton, camp director, told the aventures of Count Von Luckner, German naval officer in the World war.

Jim Higgins and Charles Matthews of New Castle took pup tent and blankets and went up on the south hill of camp to spend the night—and they say they are having a great time. The pup tent had to be put up and taken down four times before success was theirs.

PLAINGROVE

The Plaingrove Presbyterian Sunday School presented a Pageant entitled "God's Flowerland," to a large crowd Sunday evening. The program was announced by C. L. Brenneman, Supt., of the Sunday School. The pageant was directed by Pearl Patterson and Mrs. Edith Gardner, assisted by Miss Margaret Montgomery and Miss Helen Patterson, teachers. Pianist, Mrs. Sara Stevenson. The choir was composed of the Young Ladies and Young Men's Bible classes.

Special music by church orchestra directed by Mrs. Sara Stevenson. A short talk by the pastor, Rev. Dickenson completed the program.

Funeral Directors Name New Officers

Twenty Fifth Annual Convention Is Held In Conneaut Lake Hotel The Past Week

The Western Pennsylvania Funeral Directors' Association held its twenty fifth annual convention this week in the Conneaut Lake Hotel, with Fred Wolford of this city presiding at the sessions.

Four hundred funeral directors of this part of the state were registered during the convention and splendid demonstrations were given by Prof. Collier and Prof. Ray Slocum of New York City and Prof. W. Watkins of Philadelphia.

At the election of officers A. S. Batchelor of Monaca was chosen president; E. J. Marsh of Eldrige, vice president; Victor P. Hyle of Evans City, secretary-treasurer.

The 1933 convention will again be held at Conneaut Lake.

Those attending from New Castle were:—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolford, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Caskey, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. John Bigler, W. R. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Offutt, Joseph Noga, Mr. and Mrs. David Ritchie, David Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marshall.

SMOKE FROM HEATER CAUSE OF ALARM

Firemen from No. 2 department were called to the home of Howard S. Pyle of 421 E. Winter avenue at 7:25 last evening, when smoke from a clogged chimney backed into the cellar. An alarm was sounded from box 27, and firemen assisted in clearing the house of smoke. There was no damage.

NATIONAL BANK CALL IS ISSUED

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for the condition of National Banks as of June 30.

The chief trouble is that the go-getter has become a set-and-waiter.

Mahoning To Play West Side Tigers

Mahoning A. A. will play the West Side Tigers team at the E. & A. Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock Eastern Standard Time, it was announced today by Nick Cangey, manager of the fast Mahonings. This will be the first meeting of these two rivals this year and a good game is looked for.

The Mahonings have been going fine this year and only recently took first-half honors in the National league of the New Castle Twilight Loop.
